Wartime Leaders to Speak Here Saturday
EXPECT SENATE TO OVERRIDE VETOG. O. P. SENATE LEADERS PREDICT
VETO WILL BE OVERRIDDEN

Group Called to White House for Breakfast Conference Says Situation Unchanged—Guests Fail to Yield to Pres. Coolidge's Wishes

WASHINGTON, May 19.—The opponents of the bonus bill rallied and fought for time today, as the measure approached its final test in the senate.

Seven republican senators who have been numbered as friends of the bill, were called to the White House and exhorted by President Coolidge to vote to sustain his veto.

Afterward Senator Reed of Pennsylvania, in charge of the anti-bonus forces, declared the situation "seriously looking brighter," and made overtures to delay for a week the final vote.

Nevertheless, the supporters of the bill remained steadfast in their prediction of a roll call before the senate which would override the president and make the bonus insurance plan law.

Almost without exception, the seven senators summoned into conference by President Coolidge joined in this prediction. One or two were said to be wavering, but the leaders on the side of the bonus declared the defection of so small a number would not be sufficient to defeat the bill.

Neither Senator Reed nor any other supporter of the president was prepared to give any definite figures to counterbalance the claims of the opposition.

Chairman Smoot of the senate finance committee conferred with the president later and Senator Kendrick, democrat, Wyoming, who called at the executive offices, was taken over to the White House to see the president by Secretary Slomp.

Senator Smoot who arrived at the White House as the breakfast guests departed, declared that unless votes of four or three senators had been changed by the breakfast conference the senate would vote to override the veto.

Senator Curtis, republican, Kansas, in charge of the measure, announced Saturday he would move today at 2 o'clock to take up consideration of the veto. Some sparring for a delay was expected from opponents of the bill, and unless a vote is possible by tonight, it was considered likely that proponents, in view of the number of members planning to be absent later in the week, would attempt to put over definite action until next week.

Busy minutes were put in this morning by leaders of the two groups in efforts to determine a definite line on the bill, which, however, appeared uncertain to a late hour. Everyone admitted the result would be close.

The flood of messages to senators on the bill continued unabated. A letter from the World War Veterans with headquarters in Chicago endorsing the veto of President Coolidge was made public here. The letter termed the proposed bonus an "insult to the veterans which should be more properly labelled the 'loan shark's emergency act'."

If repassed by the senate, which would require a two-thirds majority, the bill automatically would become law. It provides for paid-up 20-year endowment insurance policies and cash payments to those not entitled to more than $50 in adjusted service credit.

Truman S. Taylor, a bookkeeper at Papala, was struck by a rock thrown out from the volcano immediately after the explosion and both legs were crushed. He also was burned severely by hot ashes. Taylor's cries were heard by another sightseer, who went to his assistance.

Violent explosions with eruptions of rocks, sand and ashes continue unabated. There were 11 Saturday night and three notable ones Sunday morning besides numerous lesser disturbances. Each large detonation was followed by a shower of large rocks.

Some of the missiles were hurled three-quarters of a mile. The rock which injured Taylor fell 1500 feet from the crater. A rain of ash and mud followed the rock showers. The rainfall is tremendous and is accompanied by brilliant displays of lightning and violent thunder.

Starting at 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon when the degree ritual was presented to Rep. Victor E. Jowett the quill with which he signed the bill providing for a new courthouse in Lowell, and the representative, in turn, will present it to Judge Enright.

Another Lowell measure to which the chief executive has recently affixed his signature in the bill permitting the city to pay an annuity to the widow of Edward J. P. Cunningham, the fire captain who lost his life in the Associated building fire. The quill with which the governor made the measure effective will probably go to Senator Frank H. Putnam.

SENATOR WALSH AND CARDINAL O'CONNELL

Ceremonies Featured by Street Parade and Banquet—
His Eminence Cardinal O'Connell Addresses Knights of Columbus at St. Peter's Church

Knighthood was truly in flower in Lowell yesterday, when the fourth degree of the order of the Knights of Columbus—the highest honor within the great organization—was magnificently exemplified in the Memorial Auditorium with more than 1000 sir knights from various cities and towns in Massachusetts in attendance.

The seed that had been sown months ago, when permission was first given the members of Bishop Delany assembly of Lowell to go ahead with the degree, blossomed forth yesterday with a pomp and majesty exceeding any similar function of its kind in the local history of Columbianism. It was the most impressive spectacle in connection with the fourth degree in all its history in the state.

Long before the scheduled starting time of the parade, the city's streets were thronged with men, women and children.

Molding and Plate Shop of
Federal Shipyards, Kearney, N. J., is in Ruins

Tremendous Blast of Unknown Origin Heard More Than Five Miles Away

KEARNEY, N. J., May 19.—The molding and plate shop of the federal shipyards is a complete ruin today, as the result of a tremendous explosion of unknown origin, which rocked this section, last night, doing damage to property estimated at $1,600,000.

The blast, which was heard more than five miles away, was followed immediately by fire which destroyed the building and large quantities of expensive machinery and equipment, and for a time threatened to wipe out the entire plant. The fire was confined to the building where the explosion occurred.

The blaze originated in a two-story building, more than a quarter of a mile long, and 300 feet wide, where the keel of one new vessel had just been laid and where other ships were being repaired.

THREE PERSONS MISSING

Nurse and Two Soldiers Unaccounted for Following Explosion in Crater

HONOLULU, May 19 (by the Associated Press).—Three persons are unaccounted for following a violent explosion on the island of Hawaii, said advice reaching here last night from Honolulu, on that island. They are Miss Molly U. Thomas, a nurse of the board of health, and two soldiers, whose names were not given.

The explosion was the most violent of the current period of activity in the volcano. The three were seen at the edge of the great pit of the crater, immediately before the explosion. A searching party was sent out in an effort to locate the bodies.

Truman S. Taylor, a bookkeeper at Papala, was struck by a rock thrown out from the volcano immediately after the explosion and both legs were crushed. He also was burned severely by hot ashes. Taylor's cries were heard by another sightseer, who went to his assistance.

of members of the local department. The Centralville fire started in a storage warehouse in the rear of 723 Lakeview avenue shortly before 1 o'clock Sunday morning, spread to two large tenement blocks housing 30 families, and threatened to wipe out the whole block bounded by Lakeview avenue, West Sixth, Allen and Ennell streets. An alarm from box 532 was sounded at 12:43 o'clock. The fire had evidently been raging in the interior of the warehouse for a considerable length of time and was only discovered when flames burst through the walls and roof. Upon the arrival of fire apparatus the whole building was a seething mass of flames and had communicated to two blocks in the rear, one housing 20 families and the other 12 families. Fire in this district had been feared by the firemen for years and when the chief arrived no time was lost in sounding a second alarm. Firemen answering the first and policemen who had been attracted by the blaze, entered the threatened tenements and ordered all occupants to vacate as quickly as possible. Many children were asleep at the time in the blocks and had to be carried to the street by their parents or the firemen, but all were removed to safety without any accident or sign of hysteria. The burning storehouse was too far gone when the fire department arrived to be saved and Chief Saunders ordered all available hose lines to be turned on the burning tenements. Disregarding the tremendous heat emanating from the burning storehouse, which was less than 100 feet from the nearest burning tenement block, ladder-men placed their long extension ladders and axes and hosemen made their way to the top of the block and successfully battled the flames from this point of vantage. The rear of the block was badly scorched and the roof burned through in several places. The smaller block proved less difficult to save from the flames and was only scorched on the side nearest to the burning storehouse. When the tenement property was saved and danger of a conflagration averted, the firemen turned their efforts to the storehouse building and flooded out the flames after a short while. The recall was sounded at 1:22 a. m. The storehouse was the property of Edgar Leduc, who conducts a furniture store in Lakeview avenue in one of the members of the local department. of the tenements and store blocks which was slightly damaged. The tenement property was owned by Ernestine Gnette of Lawrence. Damage is estimated roughly at $10,000. The police officers who assisted in the rescue of occupants of the tenement buildings were Robert Crowley and Joseph Connors. James Palm & Sons Fire The fire late Saturday evening was in the barn section of James Palm & Sons' plant in Tanner street, which housed three horses and a large motor truck. In this fire, as in the Centralville fire, the flames were not discovered until the interior of the building was seriously damaged and the three horses were burned to death before firemen arrived on the scene. The large truck was also totally destroyed by the flames. An alarm from box 42 was sounded at 10:15 o'clock and within a few minutes flames had burst through the roof of the barn section and lighted the sky for miles around. A second alarm was sent in upon the arrival of the chief. A considerable amount of fuel was in the barn and furnished fuel for the flames. The fire spread rapidly to the main grain storage shed of the plant but was brought under control before gaining a foothold there. The barn section was a total loss and the main plant was badly damaged by water. The building is owned by the Scamell Boiler works and the damage is estimated at $10,000. Hay in the main plant broke into flames again yesterday afternoon at 5 o'clock and those 5 was dispatched to the scene and quickly extinguished the fire. The origin of both fires is unknown, all evidence about the source of the flames having been totally destroyed. At Wembley, England, old-fashioned craftsmen, to whom modern building methods are still a mystery, are creating a home which will withstand the ravages of 600 years.

MORE OF MISTER GULLIVER

I WAS A GREAT CURIOSITY

Mister Gulliver was telling about his adventures once upon a time when he was shipwrecked. "Where did you go after you left the Country of Lilliputians?" asked Nick. "I went to the Land of the Giants," said Mister Gulliver. "It was really called the Land of Brobdingnag, a queer name, indeed, but then it was a queer place."

"Wasn't it the same as Beemstall Land?" said Nancy. "No, indeed, nor the place back the Giant Killer went to, either," said Mister Gulliver. "This was still another giant country. Everybody was kind, most of them were farmers, and they treated me handomely. When I was washed ashore after my ship was wrecked, I walked about until I came to a field. It was then I first beheld these huge men, reaping the grain with reapers so great Nick. I could not see to the top of them. I was afraid the great blades would cut me into pieces, so I shouted as loudly as I could. One of the men stopped just in time, and seeing me picked me up in his hand. I was terrified for fear I should fall as I was a hundred feet above the ground. I was a great curiosity and the others came crowding around. I was far from comfortable as the giant held me between his thumb and forefinger, much as you might pick up a

LOWELL CHILD KILLED BY AUTOMOBILE

In one of the most tragic automobile accidents of the year, little John J. Murphy, Jr., 2½-year-old son of John J. Murphy, popular clerk at the main postoffice, was struck and almost instantly killed yesterday morning in his own yard while playing with a ball. The automobile which ran over the child was operated by George Quirk, who lives with his family in the tenement over that occupied by the Murphys. The accident occurred as Mr. Quirk was backing his car out from the garage in the rear of the house. The victim was playing on a hilly car in the yard and as the machine was backed from the garage, coasted onto the garage driveway. Mr. Quirk failed to see the youngster and backed into him, knocking him from the hilly car. The child was rushed to the home of Dr. Sweet, in Westford street, but was dead upon arrival there, death being due to a fractured skull.

He leaves his parents, John J. and Julia G. (Slattery) Murphy, and two sisters, Sheila and Anne Murphy.

Ill and cross last night— DR. CALDWELL'S SYRUP PEPSIN brought vigor by morning

How To Keep A Child Healthy

A GENERATION ago parents thought that sickness was a part of a child's life, but we know better now. The secret is in the food the mother allows the child to eat, and in watching that climination occurs regularly two or three times a day. Mrs. J. Russell of 19,141 Havana Ave., Detroit, Mich., keeps her family of two young children in perfect health with Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, and Mrs. R. L. Smith of 519 Maple Ave., East Pittsburg, Pa., says her family of three children have never been sick a day since giving them Syrup Pepsin.

A Substitute for Physics

Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is a scientific compound of Egyptian senna with pepsin and suitable aromatics. The formula is on every package. You will find you do not have to force children to take it, and it is much better for them than castor oil, calomel or colic drugs like phenolphthalein even if covered with sugar or chocolate. Syrup Pepsin is mild and gentle in action and your child will have an easy passage without griping or strain. It does not contain narcotics, and you can give it with absolute safety to an infant at the breast.

"Magic" in a Teaspoonful

Every store that sells medicines sells Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, and the cost is less than a cent a dose. Give half a teaspoonful to any ailing baby or child at night when you put it to bed and you will find a happy, laughing youngster in the morning. Take Syrup Pepsin yourself when constipated, and give it to any member of the family young or old, for any ailment due to constipation, such as biliousness, headache, lack of appetite, sleeplessness, bad breath, cankers, fever sores, indigestion, and to break up fevers and colds. Stop that first sneeze or sniffle and you will have a healthy winter.

You Can Have A Trial Bottle

Now! OLD HOME POTATO BREAD

MORE SLICES

OLD HOME POTATO Bread is made in a long loaf that gives you many more slices. It goes a long way, and its slices are just the right size for sandwiches, toast, or any other use. They fit your toaster without trimming.

*"There's a difference
in Bread"*

HOME-MADE BREAD! The very thought of it gives that lagging appetite a new lease on life—stirs up the old-time desire for food and plenty of it! Wasn't it great, the way you used to eat in those good old days? And the thing that tasted best of all was mother's home-made bread. What wouldn't you give now for just one slice of bread with that never-to-be-forgotten taste?

OLD HOME POTATO Bread actually has the same taste as the bread your mother used to make. And not only the taste, but the appearance, and even the same appetizing odor that used to greet your nose on baking day. It's a loaf packed full of genuine, old-fashioned goodness and nourishment. It puts an edge on your appetite that makes the whole meal taste better—makes you want to eat as you probably haven't eaten since you were a youngster.

And OLD HOME goes a long way to satisfy that new-found appetite, too. There's solid substance in every bite—food for nerve and muscle building. It'll help keep you fit for your daily work.

You'll find OLD HOME POTATO Bread at your grocer's tomorrow. Be sure to order a loaf. Serve it to your family and see if they don't agree that it has that "sure enough" real home-made taste.

Betsy Ross Bread

BETSY ROSS Bread needs no introduction to the housewives of this community. It has been known and liked here for years. It is a big, fine-eating loaf, filled with the rich goodness of its carefully selected ingredients—ingredients such as you would choose for home baking. But we go a step farther than the woman who bakes bread at home, for we put a full measure of pure, sweet milk into BETSY ROSS Bread. No wonder it's so full of health and flavor!

PACIFISM VS. PATRIOTISM

It can be readily imagined that some lukewarm Americans will become out and out pacifists; but not so easily that any religious denomination should take a stand against war under any consideration whatsoever. There can be no denying the fact that war, in certain cases, is fully justified. Righteous wars alone can prevent the world from being ruled and even subjugated by the unrighteous. Should this country, for example, take a stand against all wars except in an international league to prevent wars and settle disputes among nations in a different way, we should soon find it controlled by some foreign foe. Were we to disarm our armies and defensive forces on land and sea, we should at once find the country overrun by foreign foes, perhaps from Japan, perhaps from Russia and possibly by powers nearer home. War under certain circumstances is, therefore, a necessity to our national existence, and any move to prevent a particular class of citizens or any religious denomination from serving the country in such emergencies borders upon treason.

Self preservation for nations as well as for men, is the first law of Nature, and if to preserve our national entity it be necessary to fight, then we must fight and defend ourselves by the appeal to force, or in other words by war. That is a patriotic duty with which all loyal citizens must comply. When the call for men is issued, it will not do for any individual to say, "I'm a pacifist, and do not believe in war; therefore, I cannot respond." If citizens were allowed to shirk their duty to that extent, the nation could not rely upon them as defenders in an emergency. The Boston Transcript suggests that pacifists who refuse to perform the duty of citizens when called upon by the government even for military service, should be deported or banished. The pacifist in opposing a just appeal to force is striking not only at the stability of our institutions but at the very life of the nation. Wars in the nation's defense and wars in the interest of humanity are just by all the highest tests and must be upheld by all citizens. Those who would refuse to subscribe to this doctrine must be classed as national enemies.

THE LOYALTY PARADE

Never before in the history of this city was there any public demonstration in which half as many school boys appeared in line as in the parade of Saturday afternoon. It was a magnificent turnout and certainly represented a vast amount of work on the part of the teachers and organizers. The various floats representing civic, historic and patriotic scenes were highly symbolic and to the children very instructive. As a demonstration of patriotism and loyalty, the parade was the nearest approach to that held on the termination of the World war, when the people left the workshops and factories and joined in a great popular demonstration of joy. The boys made a splendid showing and the fact that those of the parochial schools appeared in line after the public schools showed the unity of spirit and purpose that is always evident when the appeal is to the loyalty of the masses. If Boys' Week had no other single feature than this great and spectacular parade, it would have been a pronounced success and an event long to be remembered by those who took part. Lowell today has a higher opinion than ever before of her boys and of her responsibility for their proper care and training.

PARCEL POST THREATENED

At present there is a bill awaiting the attention of congress providing for a radical increase in parcel post rates. The parcel post has become a great source of convenience to the people of this country for the transmission of small parcels at a moderate expense. It has rendered excellent service to all classes of people; but it is particularly useful as a means of conveying small packages between the farmers in the country districts and the city dwellers. In such cases, it has been commonly used for the delivery of a great variety of articles, including live chickens, fresh eggs and farm produce sent by farmers to people living in the cities. It is predicted that the expense of sending packages would be increased by 200 per cent under the bill now pending. The claim is made that the government is losing money on the business and hence it is designed to obtain additional revenue to the extent of $110,000,000 annually under the provisions of this bill. Some time ago congress voted an appropriation of $500,000 for an investigation of the parcel post business for the purpose of making a readjustment of the rates and providing an increase that would put the business on a paying basis. It is expected that the report of this committee will be submitted in July or August. Postmaster General New has said that congress should wait the report of its investigation before passing any bill to readjust the rates. Presently, however, congress seems to take delight in overriding the recommendations of department heads and it may do so in this case even though such a course would be directly opposed to the best interests of the people.

Any radical increase in the parcel post rates could turn much of the business back to the express companies from which the parcel post system as now in force, afforded the people a real relief. It is feared that congress will find a means of increasing the revenue of the postal department without any radical increase in parcel post rates.

THE CAPE COD CANAL

Little real opposition of strength developed in congress to the Winslow bill for the purchase of the Cape Cod canal by the government. Opposition of small proportions centered around arguments to the effect that the purchase of the canal means an expansion of the business activities of the government. Representative Huddleston was outspoken against the proposition from the first, but the measure has had the support not only of congressmen from New England, but of those from many other parts of the country. One of the strongest arguments in favor of the bill and one that paved the way for favorable consideration on the part of legislators unfamiliar with the canal route and its advantages, is the fact that benefits to be derived from the purchase of the canal by the government are benefits in which the whole country and not New England alone will share.

Moving Mountains

Some college girls were giving a show. They wanted to help from the men. Faith had volunteered to act as a scene shifter. The college president dropped in at a rehearsal and it made him smile to hear the following conversation: "Faith, Faith," "Yes, 'come over here, please. I want you to move these mountains."

A Wise John

The newly married couple were gazing into the window of the jeweler's shop. "John," said the young bride, suddenly clutching his arm, "I'd love to have that bracelet hanging up at the back of the window. I can't afford to buy it for you, dear," replied the husband. "But if you could, you would, wouldn't you?" she asked, anxiously. "I'm afraid not," he retorted. "O, John, why?" she asked in a tone that showed both surprise and pain. "It isn't good enough for you, dear," he said, tenderly. "O, you darling!" she answered.

Very Strengthening

When he is in the mood, nothing delights Sir J. M. Barrie more than to tell of stories concerning his student days in Scotland. One concerns a dog at a certain Scottish university who, going round on a tour of inspection one day, came across a large barrel of beer in a student's quarters. The dog pointed out that a vital law of the college had been broken and asked for an explanation. The boy was readily forthcoming. "I'm sure, sir, I have not been well lately, and my doctor ordered me to drink a glass of beer every morning and every evening. I am only taking it, medicinally. This soft answer turned away wrath, as the dog got quite sympathetic and inquired, "And do you think it is doing you good?" "Oh yes, sir," he replied, "I feel better. When it came to this barrel, I took two of us to lift it, but now I can trundle it around the room myself."

Love me, little Velvet-Check, love me at the dawn—
Hands as soft of petals are, eyes as blue as the sky,
Let whatever care beset, shall my heart be true to thee.

Love me, little Velvet-Check; love me at the dusk

After daylong strife with life, what could finer be?

Love me, little Velvet-Check; love me till the end,
Whisper to your Velvet-Check, "Father was my friend."
Love him much as I love you—more if such may be,
Come, my little Velvet-Check, show your love for me.

MAN ABOUT TOWN

The idea popular among many that the army is a hard taskmaster is dispelled by the following item from the U. S. Army Recruiting News concerning recruiting duty in one of the large cities. "The morale of the recruiting personnel is stimulated through the privileges given them of attending National and American league baseball games on passes given by the club. This in return for advertising on the 'A' boards throughout the district; given the games played at home each day."

Did you ever notice the many different punch marks in your street railway car tickets and your order books? Why the punch marks were different I did not ask. Sup. "Tommy" says the reason, "Tommy" was not adverse to explaining to the general public through this column. "Every operator on the local division," he said, "carries a punch with which to perforate tickets and transfers and no punch tickets in use on this division make the same mark. This may seem unimportant to the layman," he continued, "but it is absolutely essential as it provides a definite mark of identification for the operator's number. If any complaints are received concerning transfers or tickets and the complaint is made to give the operator's number of name, we can easily identify him by the punch mark in the ticket. This system, he said, is in force on all the larger street railroads throughout the country and on many of the steam roads and bus lines as well."

The May issue of "The Junior Citizen," published monthly by the pupils of the local school, has just been received and the first impression upon the reader is one of satisfaction for the cover design is very appealing. On the first page is an editorial and the names of the staff, headed by Clark Dixon as editor-in-chief. There are 24 pages of interesting reading matter between the covers and, although the paper is not an "infant," in the journalistic sense, it has real merit.

Raymond J. Robinson, a graduate of the Morse school and now a teacher in the Henry Lord Junior high school in Fall River, received a copy of an earlier issue of the magazine and writes the following letter of appreciation: "I have been looking over your most excellent little paper. It certainly is worthy of the school publishing it. I have shown it to the faculty here, and they, too, think it quite nice. I know that one member of the staff, Charles, Connelly, please extend my congratulations to all, with my best wishes for continued success."

Murphy, director of the choral club, for the excellent work accomplished and services rendered throughout the year.

Miss Kathleen Jennings was the soloist of the afternoon and accompanied by Mrs. Ella Reilly Toye, she gave a most enjoyable program.

Rev. Joseph A. Curtin, spiritual director of the organization, addressed the members at the close of the business session. In speaking of the progress of the league during the past year, Rev. Fr. Curtin referred to the fact that in the six years' existence of the league, interest and co-operation were always the highlights of the association. "Since the organization of the league six years ago, the same enthusiastic leaders who were then interested are still engaged in directing the affairs of the league," stated Fr. Curtin.

In closing, Fr. Curtin expressed his gratitude to the league for the cheque at its meeting on Thursday last.

OH! SNATCHED AWAY IN BEAUTY'S BLOOM

Oh! snatch'd away in beauty's bloom
On thee shall press no ponderous tomb;
But on thy turf shall roses rear
Their leaves, the earliest of the year;
And the wild cypress wave in tender gloom:

And oft by yon blue gushing stream
Shall Sorrow lean her drooping head,
And feed deep thought with many a dream,
And lingering pause and lightly tread:
Fond wretch! as if her step disturb'd the dead!

Awail! we know that tears are vain,
That death nor heeds nor hears distress,
Will this unteach us to complain?
Or make one mourner weep the less?
And thou—who tell'st me to forget,
Thy looks are wan, thine eyes are wet.

—Lord Byron.

The ESSENCE of SPRING

Hal
Cockran's
DAILY
POEM

Dog-gone-it, it's spring and there isn't a thing that has never been written about it. The story is old and it always is told: when the spring comes around poets shout it.

The birds sing the same as they always have sung and the frogs croak the usual way. The real thoughts of spring have so often been flung that it's useless to fling 'em today.

Why, even the creek hasn't changed, so to speak, and the water still trickles galore. The kids, if you please, wade around to their knees—but you've all heard that story before.

The dandelion yellow, the violet blue; and the moss that grows under the brush, are all quite familiar to me and to you, like the song of the robin or thrush.

The feeling of spring is a wonderful thing, but it's foolish to bother my head at writing about it when you, I don't doubt it, can step out and feel it instead.

"SPRING FEVER"

Summer heat! With everybody uncomfortable, particularly the baby. Mr. Mann of Andover, feeling around, wondering what he could do to make himself cooler, and disturbed over the discomfort of the child! Summer days are painful days for baby; restless, crying days. A few, easily done things will always help.

Sponging the child off at least three or four times a day. Wipe his face and head with a cool (not cold) cloth about once an hour. If the baby's skin is easily irritated try the baby bath, which is prepared by placing a couple of bars in a muslin bag and pressing it out in both water. Dust talcum powder carefully over the body after each bath.

As a protection against flies and mosquitoes, have screens on the windows, or throw a soft cloth netting, in tent fashion, over the crib, arranging this so that it will be free from the child's body.

Cod Liver Oil Now in Tasteless Tablets
Greatest Flesh Builder

No more will weak, thin, unfortunate children cry in protest when one tastes this fishy-tasting, horrible-smelling cod liver oil is brought out. Medical science progresses rapidly and now you can get at your druggist's real, genuine cod liver oil in sugar-coated tablets that young and old can take with ease and pleasure.

Even the run-down and skinny grown-ups, who ought to take cod liver oil, because it really is the greatest vitamin food and builder of healthy flesh in the world, will feel extremely joyful when they read this welcome news.

Of course, doctors have been prescribing cod liver oil in tablets under another name for several years, but it is only of late that one can walk into a drug store and get a box of these flesh-producing tablets just as easy as a bottle of magnesia.

Thin, run-down, anemic men, women and children who need to grow strong and take on flesh are advised to get a box of McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Tablets, and if you don't gain 3 pounds in 30 days just get your money back.

One woman gained fifteen pounds in five weeks, according to her own doctor—another ten pounds in three weeks. A very sickly child, aged nine, twelve pounds in seven months, and now plays with other children and has a good appetite.

Just ask for McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Tablets. Green's Drug Store, A. W. Dows & Co., Fred Howard, or any good druggist will tell you that they are wonderful flesh and health builders. Only sixty cents for 60 tablets.

"Get McCoy's, the original and genuine Cod Liver Oil Tablets."—Adv.

Legion Memorial Day Message

Continued
more post spirit and a strong display of it by a large turnout of marchers on Memorial day.

The Memorial day message at Commodore MacDonald follows:

Memorial Day!
Not our day, but Their Day.
Not the day we celebrate, but rather the day we observe.
Not the day of self-indulgence, but the day of dedication, the day of tribute, the day we publicly express the holy spirit of veneration for those comrades who have gone on before.

Turn out, then comrades, for the Memorial day observance. Attend the church services on the Sunday morning before Memorial day, honor the G.A.R. by attending their services at the First Congregational church on Sunday afternoon also.

Speedily passing into our hands is the task of maintaining in this country the proper respect due to all men who served in our country's wars. How can we expect to do this if we do not set the proper example?

Is there a veteran so lacking in the ideals we cherish that he will take the day for himself rather than dedicate it to our dead? I hope not. So again, comrades, do your duty by the dead. Do your duty by your country. Turn out for every ceremony planned for the observance of Memorial day.

COLIN C. MACDONALD, Commander.

DIVORCE EASY IN TEXAS

Texas is now a happy hunting ground for divorce hunters. Mental anguish is the favorite grounds. Examination of complaints shows that, in a large percentage of cases, this consists of using profane language.

A Houston judge granted 120 divorces in one day. He piled very little into the private affairs of those who came before him, many of whom rallied upon their former mate's profanity of tongue.

Texas law declares neither party in a divorce action may remarry within a year, but the framers of the law neglected to include a penalty. Immediate remarriages are common. With very few exceptions, no Texas newspaper prints divorce news of any kind.

Advertisers who use The Sun consistently get greater returns on the money invested than through any other Lowell newspaper. There's a reason. The Sun goes into more homes in Lowell and suburbs than any other Lowell paper and ninety per cent of Sun readers read no other Lowell newspaper. Furthermore, ninety five per cent of The Sun circulation is confined to the city of Lowell and immediate vicinity.

Jack Daw's Adventures. Chapter 21

Jack had many good things to eat and finally a loud strain of music came floating through the air. That's the signal to get ready for the parade," explained the circus lady. And, with that, she jumped up and left the table. All the others started leaving, too.

"Want to watch the parade form?" asked the elephant trainer, who had come up to where Jack sat. "Sure," replied the little adventurer. And he followed the elephant trainer outside of the eating tent. Circus folks were forming into line and there was much excitement.

A funny looking clown came running up to Jack and asked if he would like to parade in the march around town. "He won't get hurt because I'll take him right in my pony cart with me," said the clown. So Jack agreed and the clown started away with Flip at his heels. (Continued.)

COUPLE KILLED BY SAME BULLET

Police Seek to Solve Mystery
Surrounding Killing of Student and Teacher

Found Shot to Death Near
Harrisburg, Pa.—Funerals
Held Today

HARRISBURG, Pa., May 18.—Upon two slender clues, a battered leaden bullet and a worn pocket notebook, state police and county officials today pinned hopes of solving the mystery surrounding the killing of Harry Ganger, Marysville high school student and Leah Ellinger, Hollidaysburg teacher, found shot to death at Lamb's Gap near here, early Saturday morning.

The bullet, taken from the body of the girl, was that which killed both her and her companion as they were returning to their home after picking up a friend on Blue mountain. It was of old style made for an old type of rifle. The notebook found in the boy's pocket contained a strange collection of boyish impressions. In it he had noted methodically many happenings and secrets of his life, addresses and a map of the mountain region in which he was killed. From these the police sought some inkling of his experience that might lead to the slayer.

Today funeral services were held separately for the youth and girl at Marysville.

white, with veils and insignias, made a most impressive scene as they filed to the pews arranged before the altar.

The procession was led by three young ladies, who acted as flower girls, two carrying baskets of sweet peas, while the other carried a large basket filled with carnations. Following the flower girls were two young ladies bearing the banner of the Children of Mary. Next in line were the girls, each representing a lead of the Rosary, every tenth girl carrying a banner indicating the decade represented by her group. Banners of gold and white were carried by the first five groups representing the joyful mysteries of the Rosary. The powerful mysteries followed the joyful and red and gold was the color scheme used. Lastly, came the glorious mysteries and these were indicated by gold and blue banners.

Taking up in the rear of the procession were four young ladies carrying a miniature shrine of the Blessed Virgin, decorated with pink, red, white and greenery. Thirty young girls, each carrying a pink and white robe, followed the shrine bearers.

Upon arriving at the altar, the flower girls placed their tributes at the foot of the altar, while the shrine was placed on a table arranged for the purpose.

Rev. Augustin Gratton, O.M.I., director of the Children of Mary sodality, in addressing the large congregation, spoke in part as follows:

"Today we have gathered to honor the Blessed Virgin, our mother. The church has proclaimed the Blessed Virgin the Mother of Divine Grace. The Blessed Virgin gave us Jesus, and Jesus is the source of divine grace. The Blessed Virgin is our mother by grace and we must believe and love her as our mother. If Mary is the mother of all graces, let us go to her with all confidence; let us implore her for the graces of conversion so necessary to holiness. If she does not obtain them for us, it is because we have not prayed faithfully enough, because we have not enough confidence. She wants to bestow upon us all the necessary graces for a pure and holy life. Mary, the mother of God, Mary, the mother of Christ, yes, we proclaim her as such; we honor her as our queen and mother. Let us show our confidence in Mary. Let us go to Mary, Mary, mother of believers, convert the sinners, Mary mother of God, heal the sick, bless our families, bless our children, bless your children of Mary, bless the orphan, teach us to pray, to love, to have confidence, bless our works, our families, our priests and our religious. Mary, let us love you, show us the horror of sin, the love of sacrifice, devotion to you.

"Ask all you want of this good mother. May she keep you and protect you on this earth, may she keep you with her eternally in heaven."

At the conclusion of the address, benediction of the Most Blessed Sacrament was held. Rev. Fr. Gratton officiating during the ceremony. The Tantum Ergo, O Salutaris Ave Maria and numerous appropriate hymns were sung by the members of the sodality.

This morning that all preliminary arrangements to assure the actual construction of a 10-story, modern hotel here have been completed. Carefully drawn plans covering several sheets of blue prints and outlined a wealth of attractive details in hotel exterior as well as interior, have been patiently studied by the promoters, discussed in lengthy planning sessions and now unanimously approved.

Even the name of the hotel has been selected by the designers with the approval of the financial supporters. It is a name familiar to all Lowell and the country over, referring as it does to an institution of the city whose title and character arouse laudation and patriotic sentiment.

The promoters of the ten-story hotel, which is to be built on the very heart of Lowell, have considered just one location for the structure desired. Among the possible sites were real estate properties on John street, French street, East Merrimack street and the site of former Associate hall.

Since the disastrous fire that destroyed the latter business block in 1917, the site has been the subject of much discussion. The new hotel proposition suggested taking the Associate building site for the purpose desired. It is a location that can be secured promptly, if desired, it was said today.

The promoters have received many recommendations from well known Lowell business men, advising the selection of a site on East Merrimack street but no particular spot has been considered in any determinative way.

There is to be no city-wide subscription campaign to secure funds for the hotel proposition, as first suggested. The reason is this: Enough leading citizens are confident that if a certain excellent location that has the approval of a majority of the city's business men, the promoter and architect, funds will be easy to obtain from a few civic betterment enthusiasts who would be glad to have an investment in a substantial hotel of modern size and conveniences, in the progress of community welfare and genuine hospitality.

G. O. P. SENATE LEADERS PREDICT
VETO WILL BE OVERRIDDEN

Group Called to White House for Breakfast Conference Says Situation Unchanged—Guests Fail to Yield to Pres. Coolidge's Wishes

WASHINGTON, May 18.—The opponents of the bonus bill rallied and fought for time today, as the measure approached its final test in the senate.

Seven republican senators who have been numbered as friends of the bill, were called to the White House and exhorted by President Coolidge to vote to sustain his veto.

Afterward Senator Reed of Pennsylvania, in charge of the anti-bonus forces, declared the situation "certainly is looking brighter," and made overtures to delay for a week the final vote.

Nevertheless, the supporters of the bill remained steadfast in their prediction of a roll call before which they were confident the president would waver, but the leaders on the side of the bonus declared the defection of so small a number would not be sufficient to defeat the bill.

Neither Senator Reed nor any other supporter of the president was prepared to give any definite figures to counterbalance the claims of the opposition.

Chairman Smoot of the senate finance committee conferred with the president later and Senator Kendrick, democrat, Wyoming, who called at the White House to see the president by Secretary Slomp.

Senator Smoot who arrived at the White House as the breakfast guests departed, declared that unless votes of two or three senators had been changed by the breakfast conference the senate would vote to override the veto.

Senator Curtis, republican, Kansas, in charge of the measure, announced

Saturday he would move today at 2 o'clock to take up consideration of the veto. Some sparring for a delay was expected from opponents of the bill, and unless a vote is possible by tonight, it was considered likely that proponents, in view of the number of members planning to be absent later in the week, would attempt to put over definite action until next week.

Busy minutes were put in this morning by leaders of the two groups in efforts to determine a definite lineup on the bill, which, however, appeared uncertain to a late hour. Everyone admitted the result would be close.

The flood of messages to senators on the bill continued unabated. A letter from the World War Veterans with headquarters in Chicago endorsing the veto of President Coolidge was made public here. The letter termed the proposed bonus an "insult to the veterans which should be more properly labeled the 'loan shark's emergency act'."

If repassed by the senate, which would require a two-thirds majority, the bill automatically would become law. It provides for paid-up 20-year endowment insurance policies and cash payments to those not entitled to more than $50 in adjusted service credit.

Sen. Greene Supports Veto
WASHINGTON, May 18.—Senator Greene, republican, Vermont, who has been confined to his home since he was accidentally shot last February, sent word to the senate he would support in the chamber a vote to sustain President Coolidge's veto of the bonus bill.

Mr. Greene just recently has been able to leave his bed and has not appeared in public since the accident. His support for the veto gave administration forces an unexpected additional vote and served to narrow the already close margin on the lineup.

His Eminence Cardinal O'Connell Addresses Knights
—Senator Walsh Speaker at Banquet

Knighthood was truly in flower in Lowell yesterday, when the fourth degree of the order of the Knights of Columbus—the highest honor within the great organization—was magnificently exemplified in the Memorial Auditorium with more than 1000 knights from various cities and towns in Massachusetts in attendance. The seed that had been sown months ago, when permission was first given the members of Bishop Delany assembly of Lowell to go ahead with the degree, blossomed forth yesterday with a pomp and majesty exceeding any similar function of its kind in the local history of Catholicism. It was the most impressive spectacle in connection with the fourth degree in all its history in the state.

Starting at 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon when the degree ritual was privately exemplified in the Auditorium by Louis Watson, degree master of Cabot province, assisted by his staff and the local committee under Faithful Navigator John V. Donoghue, of Bishop Delany assembly, engaging in an impressive street parade which was reviewed by His Eminence, William Cardinal O'Connell, assisting at pontifical benediction in St. Peter's church, and ending with a banquet in the Auditorium where splendid addresses were made by Senator David L. Walsh and other distinguished gentlemen, the day was replete with interesting and memorable events.

Long before the scheduled starting time of the parade, the city's streets were thronged with men, women and children.

U. S. AMBASSADOR TO
JAPAN TO RETIRE

WASHINGTON, May 18.—The desire of Ambassador Woods at Tokyo to relinquish his post is believed by officials here to be based wholly upon personal considerations and to have no connection with pending immigration legislation in this country.

Mr. Woods first expressed his wish to be relieved when he was in the United States some months ago, before the Japanese exclusion question came up in congress. His resignation has not yet been formally submitted, but he expects to return to the United States when he can be spared for the purpose of tendering it.

Recent dispatches from Tokyo, have indicated that the health of the ambassador's mother-in-law, Mrs. J. A. Marchand, who was injured during the Tokyo earthquake, has not improved, and that her condition has become increasingly precarious. Mr. Woods desires to bring her back to the United States at the earliest possible moment.

Two Second Alarm Fires Assumed Dangerous Proportions — Lives Endangered — Horses Killed

WHERE THREE HORSES WERE BURNED IN FIRE AT JAMES PALM & SONS STABLE

Two serious fires, one in the James Palm & Son grain shed in Tanner street, and the other in the thickly populated residential section of West Centralville, threatened conflagrations late Saturday evening and early Sunday morning, and resulted in double alarms in both instances. In the Palm fire, three horses were burned to death, and in the Centralville fire, the lives of over 100 persons, occupants of large tenement blocks, were threatened and a serious conflagration was averted only by the lack of wind and the efficient action of members of the local department.

The Centralville fire started in a storage warehouse in the rear of 729 Lakeview avenue shortly before 1 o'clock Sunday morning, spread to two large tenement blocks housing 30 families, and threatened to wipe out the whole block bounded by Lakeview avenue, West Sixth, Aiken and Ennell streets.

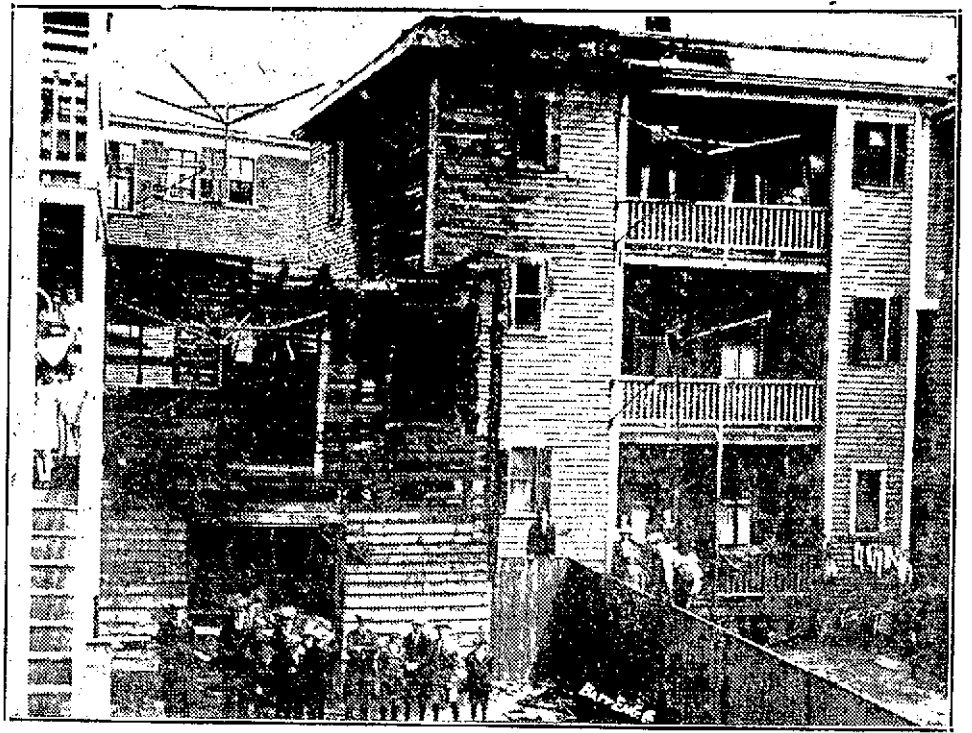

An alarm from box 632 was sounded at 12:43 o'clock. The fire had evidently been raging in the interior of the warehouse for a considerable length of time and was only discovered when flames burst through the walls and roof. Upon the arrival of fire apparatus the whole building was a seething mass of flames and had communicated to two blocks in the rear, one housing 20 families and the other 12 families.

Fire in this district had been feared by the firemen for years and when the chief arrived no time was lost in sending in a second alarm. Firemen answering the first and policemen who had been attracted by the blaze, entered the threatened tenements and ordered all occupants to vacate as quickly as possible. Many children were asleep at the time in the blocks and had to be carried to the street by their parents or the firemen, but all were removed to safety without any accident or sign of hysteria.

The burning storehouse was too far gone when the fire department arrived to be saved and Chief Saunders ordered all available hose lines to be turned on the burning tenements. Disregarding the tremendous heat, emanating from the burning storehouse, which was less than 100 feet from the nearest burning tenement block, ladder-men placed their long extension ladders and axemen and hosemen made their way to the top of the block and successfully battled the flames from this point of vantage. The rear of the block was badly scorched and the roof burned through in several places. The smaller block proved less difficult to save from the flames and was only scorched on the side nearest to the burning storehouse.

When the tenement property was saved and danger of a conflagration averted, the firemen turned their efforts to the storehouse building, and flooded out the flames after a short while. The recall was sounded at 1:22 a. m.

The storehouse was the property of Elmer Leach, who conducts a furniture store in Lakeview avenue in one of the tenements and store blocks which was slightly damaged. The tenement property was owned by Ernest Gunette of Lawrence. Damage is estimated roughly at $10,000.

The police officers who assisted in the rescue of occupants of the tenement buildings were Robert Crowley and Joseph Connors.

James Palm & Sons Fire

The fire late Saturday evening was in the barn section of James Palm & Sons' plant in Tanner street, which housed three horses and a large motor truck. In this fire, as in the Centralville fire, the flames were not discovered until the interior of the building was seriously damaged and the three horses were burned to death before firemen arrived on the scene. The large truck was also totally destroyed by the flames.

An alarm from box 43 was sounded at 10:15 o'clock and within a few minutes flames had burst through the roof of the barn section and lighted the sky for miles around. A second alarm was sent in upon the arrival of the chief. A considerable amount of hauled hay was in the barn and furnished fuel for the flames.

The fire spread rapidly to the main grain storage shed of the plant but was brought under control before gaining a foothold there. The barn section was a total loss and the main plant was badly damaged by water. The building is owned by the Scamell Roller works and the damage is estimated at $10,000.

Hay in the main plant broke into flames again yesterday afternoon at 5 o'clock and hose 5 was dispatched to the scene and quickly extinguished the fire.

The origin of both fires is unknown, all evidence about the source of the flames having been totally destroyed.

At Wembley, England, old-fashioned craftsmen, to whom modern building methods are still a mystery, are creating a home which will withstand the ravages of 600 years.

OUT OUR WAY

Mister Gulliver was telling about his adventures once upon a time when he was shipwrecked. "Where did you go after you left the country of Lilliputians?" asked Nick.

"I went to the Land of the Giants," said Mister Gulliver. "It was really called the land of Brobdingnag, a queer name, indeed, but then it was a queer place."

"Wasn't it the same as Roundtable Land?" said Nancy.

"No, indeed, nor the place Jack the Giant Killer went to," said Mister Gulliver. "This was still another giant country. Everybody was kind, most of them were farmers, and they treated me handsomely. When I was washed ashore after my ship was wrecked, I walked about until I came to a field. It was then I first beheld these huge men, rearing the grain with reapers so great I could not see to the top of them. I was afraid the great blades would cut me into pieces, so I shouted as loudly as I could. One of the men stopped just in time, and seeing me picked me up in his hand. I was terrified for fear I should fall as I was a hundred feet above the ground."

"I was a great curiosity and the others came crowding around. I was far from comfortable as the giant held me between his thumb and forefinger, much as you might pick up a heart, and his huge fingers hurt my ribs.

"He took me home for a pet and I was treated as well or even better than the housewife. Finally my master said me to the Queen. I was kept in a cage in the garden as a curiosity and crowds of people came to see me every day.

"But one day a bird came about, and picking up my cage in his beak, he flew off and although the Queen and all her servants shouted and did everything possible to scare the bird and make him drop me, I was very thankful that he held on.

"As I was a thousand feet up in the air, I would surely have been dashed to pieces had he done so."

"What happened then?" asked Nick.

"The bird flew out to sea and came down out of the air, began to swim on the top of the water to hunt for fish. He let me go and I floated for some time and was picked up finally by a ship and taken to my own country, where I lived happily ever after."

"And you have any other adventures?" asked Nancy.

"Many," said Mister Gulliver. "Once I visited the Land of Horses, and another time the Yahoos. But I see Mister Muggs looking at his watch, so I suppose I won't have time to tell you any more."

"Not today, thank you, Mister Gulliver," said Mister Muggs. "You have made these children very happy with your stories and I'll tell the Fairy Queen. She will do something for you, I know. Perhaps if you are not married, she will dance at your wedding. And if you invite us, all of us, well."

"Too late," laughed Mister Gulliver. "But come back anyway."

The Twins waved good-bye and the little car sped back home, leaving Uncle Pompey Time Land far behind.

Now! OLD HOME POTATO BREAD

MORE SLICES

OLD HOME POTATO Bread is made in a long loaf that gives you many more slices. It goes a long way, and its slices are just the right size for sandwiches, toast, or any other use. They fit your toaster without trimming.

*"There's a difference
in Bread"*

HOME-MADE BREAD! The very thought of it gives that lagging appetite a new lease on life—stirs up the old-time desire for food and plenty of it! Wasn't it great, the way you used to eat in those good old days? And the thing that tasted best of all was mother's home-made bread. What wouldn't you give now for just one slice of bread with that never-to-be-forgotten taste?

OLD HOME POTATO Bread actually has the same taste as the bread your mother used to make. And not only the taste, but the appearance, and even the same appetizing odor that used to greet your nose on baking day. It's a loaf packed full of genuine, old-fashioned goodness and nourishment. It puts an edge on your appetite that makes the whole meal taste better—makes you want to eat as you probably haven't eaten since you were a youngster.

And OLD HOME goes a long way to satisfy that new-found appetite, too. There's solid substance in every bite—food for nerve and muscle building. It'll help keep you fit for your daily work.

You'll find OLD HOME POTATO Bread at your grocer's tomorrow. Be sure to order a loaf. Serve it to your family and see if they don't agree that it has that "sure enough" real home-made taste.

Betsy Ross Bread

BETSY ROSS Bread needs no introduction to the housewives of this community. It has been known and liked here for years. It is a big, fine-eating loaf, filled with the rich goodness of its carefully selected ingredients—ingredients such as you would choose for home baking. But we go a step farther than the woman who bakes bread at home, for we put a full measure of pure, sweet milk into BETSY ROSS Bread. No wonder it's so full of health and flavor!

PACIFISM VS. PATRIOTISM

It can be readily imagined that some lukewarm Americans will become out and out pacifists; but not so easily that any religious denomination should take a stand against war under any consideration whatsoever. There can be no denying the fact that war, in certain cases, is fully justified. Righteous wars alone can prevent the world from being ruled and even subjugated by the unrighteous. Should this country, for example, take a stand against all wars except in an international league to prevent wars and settle disputes among nations in a different way, we should soon find it controlled by some foreign foe. Were we to disarm our armies and defensive forces on land and sea, we should at once find the country overrun by foreign foes, perhaps from Japan, perhaps from Russia and possibly by powers nearer home. War under certain circumstances is, therefore, a necessity to our national existence, and any move to prevent a particular class of citizens or any religious denomination from serving the country in such emergencies borders upon treason.

Self preservation for nations as well as for men, is the first law of nature, and it to preserve our national entity it is necessary to fight, then we must fight and defend ourselves by the appeal to force, or in other words by war. That is a patriotic duty with which all loyal citizens must comply. When the call for men is issued, it will not do for any individual to say, "I'm a pacifist, and do not believe in war; therefore, I cannot respond." If citizens were allowed to shirk their duty to that extent, the nation could not rely upon them as defenders in an emergency. The Boston Transcript suggests that pacifists who refuse to perform the duty of citizens when called upon by the government, even for military service, should be deported or banished. The pacifist in opposing a just appeal to force is striking not only at the stability of our institutions but at the very life of the nation. Wars in the nation's defense and wars in the interest of humanity are just by all the highest tests and must be upheld by all citizens. Those who would refuse to subscribe to this doctrine must be classed as national enemies.

THE LOYALTY PARADE

Never before in the history of this city was there any public demonstration in which half as many school boys appeared in line as in the parade of Saturday afternoon. It was a magnificent turnout and certainly represented a vast amount of work on the part of the teachers and organizers. The various floats representing civic, historic and patriotic scenes were highly symbolic and to the children very instructive.

As a demonstration of patriotism and loyalty, the parade was the nearest approach to that held on the termination of the World war, when the people left the workshops and factories and joined in a great popular demonstration of joy. The boys made a splendid showing and the fact that those of the parochial schools appeared in line after the public schools showed the unity of spirit and purpose that is always evident when the appeal is to the loyalty of the masses. If Boys' Week had no other single feature than this great and spectacular parade, it would have been a pronounced success and an event long to be remembered by those who took part. Lowell today has a higher opinion than ever before of her boys and of her responsibility for their proper care and training.

PARCEL POST THREATENED

At present there is a bill awaiting the attention of congress providing for a radical increase in parcel post rates. The parcel post has become a great source of convenience to the people of this country for the transmission of small parcels at a moderate expense. It has rendered excellent service to all classes of people; but it is particularly useful as a means of conveying small packages between the farmers in the country districts and the city dwellers. In such cases, it has been commonly used for the delivery of a great variety of articles, including live chickens, fresh eggs and farm produce sent by farmers to people living in the cities. It is predicted that the expense of sending packages would be increased by 200 per cent under the bill now pending. The claim is made that the government is to be paid for the business and hence it is designed to obtain additional revenue to the extent of $100,000,000 annually under the provisions of this bill. Some time ago congress voted an appropriation of $100,000 for an investigation of the parcel post business for the purpose of making a readjustment of the rates and providing an increase that would put the business on a paying basis. It is expected that the report of this committee will be submitted in July or August. Postmaster General New has said that congress should wait the report of his investigation before passing any bill to readjust the rates. Recently, however, congress seems to have decided in favor of the recommended rates of department heads and it may do so in this case, even though such a course would be directly opposed to the best interests of the people.

Any radical increase in the parcel post rates would turn much of the business back to the express companies from which the parcel post system is now in force, affording the people welcome relief. It is hoped that congress will find a means of increasing the revenue of the parcel post department without any radical increase in parcel post rates.

THE CAPE COD CANAL

Little real opposition of strength developed in congress to the Whitely bill for the purchase of the Cape Cod canal by the government. Opposition of small proportions centered around arguments to the effect that the purchase of the canal means an expansion of the business activities of the government. Representative Huddleston was outspoken against the proposition from the first, but the measure has had the support not only of congressmen from New England, but of those from many other parts of the country.

One of the strongest arguments in favor of the bill and one that paved the way for favorable consideration on the part of legislators unfamiliar with the canal route and its advantages, is the fact that benefits to be derived from the purchase of the canal by the government are benefits in which the whole country and not New England alone will share.

CRAMP CLARK'S RULING

Some of the late Cramp Clark's rulings as speaker of the national house of representatives, are being invoked in connection with the pending controversy over Japanese exclusion. Mr. Clark, when leader of the house and

A Thought
The less people speak of their greatness the more we think of it.—Hacon.

Seeking Patients
Business was none too brisk with the village doctor. "Sir," said the maid as she entered his surgery, "some boys are in the orchard eating green apples. Shall I drive them away?" And the doctor answered "No."

Moving Mountains
Some college girls were giving a show. They wanted to help from the men. Faith had volunteered to act as a scene shifter. The college president dropped in at a rehearsal and it made him smile to hear the following conversation: "Faith, Faith," "Yes," "Come over here, please. I want you to move these mountains."

A Wise John
The newly married couple were gazing into the window of the jeweler's shop. "John," said the young bride, suddenly clutching his arm, "I love to have that bracelet hanging up at the back of the window. I can't afford to buy it for you, dear," replied the husband. "But if you could, you would, wouldn't you?" she asked, anxiously. "I would not," he retorted. "No, John, why?" she asked in a tone that showed both surprise and pain. "It isn't good enough for you, dear," he said, tenderly. "O, you darling!" she answered.

Very Strengthening
When he is in the mood, nothing delights Sir J. M. Barrie more than to fire off stories concerning his student days in Scotland. One concerns a son at a certain Scottish university who, going round on a tour of inspection one day, came across a large barrel of beer in a student's quarters. The son pointed out that a vital law of the college had been broken and asked for an explanation. This was readily forthcoming. "You see, sir, I have not been well lately, and my doctor ordered me to drink a glass of beer every morning and every evening. I am only taking it, moderately." The son's answer turned away wrath as the doctor got quite sympathetic and inquired, "And do you think it is doing you good?" "Oh, yes, sir. Do you see that barrel?" "Yes, but it can't be lifted. When it took two of us to lift it, but now I can trundle it around the room myself."

Wherever eyes meet, shall my heart be set?
Little Velvet-check at home loves his doing dad—
Love me, little Velvet-check, love me at the dusk—
Children are the grain of life, grown up as are the husk.
After day-long strife with life, what could fiercer be
Than this little Velvet-check whispering love to me?
Love me, little Velvet-check, love me till the end—
Whisper to your mother, "Father was my friend."
Love him much as I love you more if such may be.
Come, my little Velvet-check, show your love for me.
—Strickland Gillilan in Farm Life.

MAN ABOUT TOWN

The idea popular among many that the army is a hard taskmaster is dispelled by the following item from the U. S. Army Recreational News concerning recruiting duty in one of the larger cities. "The morale of the recruiting personnel is stimulated through the privilege of going on an attending National and American League baseball games on passes given by the club. This in return for advertisements on the 'A' boards throughout the districts given the games played at home each day."

Did you ever notice the many different punch marks on your tin can? You know and did you ever wonder why the punch marks were different? I did and asked Sam, "Sammy," says the person. "Tommie" was not adverse to explaining to the general public through this column. "Every operator on the local division," he said, "carries a punch with which to perforate tickets and transfers and no two punches are the same. This division marks the same mark. This mark is unimportant to the taxpayer," he continued, "but it is absolutely essential as it provides a definite mark of identification for use here, in the office, in addition to the operator's number, the mark which his punch makes if any complaints are received concerning transfers or tickets and the complainant is unable to give the operator's number or name, he can easily identify him by the punch mark in the ticket."

This system, he said, is in force on all the larger street car lines throughout the country and on many of the steam roads and bus lines as well.

The May issue of "The Junior Citizen," published monthly by the pupils of the May school, has just been received and the first impression upon the reader is one of satisfaction. The cover design is very appealing. On the first page is an editorial and the names of the staff, headed by Clark Dixon as editor-in-chief. There are 24 pages of interesting reading matter between the covers and, although the paper is yet an "infant" in the journalistic sense, it has real merit.

Raymond J. Hobson, a graduate of the May school and now a teacher in the Henry Ford Junior High School in Fall River, received a copy of an earlier issue of the magazine and writes the following letter of appreciation: "I have been looking over your most excellent little paper. It certainly is worthy of the school publishing it. I have shown it to the faculty here and they think it quite fine. I think I know but one member of the staff. Concluding please extend my congratulations in all, with my best wishes for continued success."

PUBLIC TAX RETURNS

Democrats in congress are strongly opposed to the proposition of throwing all income tax returns open to public inspection. There has been much talk about this line, but when the matter is carefully considered, it will be readily seen that any such move would leave the private business of every taxpayer open to inspection by his competitors, which would be utterly unjust. There would be a very strong reason against any law that would make such an arrangement. It would enable the wealthy traders and manufacturers to gobble up their lesser rivals. The small business man has many difficulties to contend with, which if known to his wealthy competitors in business would enable them to drive him to the wall. It is quite probable that if the income tax returns were laid open to public inspection the revenue system would be completely overthrown and demoralized. The proposition is contrary to all business principles and an evident violation of the rights of citizens to keep their business secrets from public scrutiny and particularly from the inspection of their competitors in business.

CONFERENCE TOMORROW AT ROGERS HALL

A splendid program covering forenoon, afternoon and evening sessions has been arranged for the citizenship conference to be held at Rogers Hall tomorrow under the auspices of the Massachusetts League of Women Voters. ## DON'T SHOW OFF THE BABY

"Have you seen our baby?" Mr. Mann would probably ask of visitors who dropped in for an evening call. The baby was about $20, and Mrs. Mann knew from past experience that what would happen if the baby awakened.

When the company had gone Mrs. Mann let "father" have it with both barrels.

You've got to stop this show-off game," she declared. "The child must not acquire bad habits of sleep. It wakes up often enough as it is without any outside help."

Mrs. Mann's rebuke should be every mother's rebuke.

A child is likely to acquire bad habits of sleep by being disturbed in the early days of life. Being "shown off" to relatives and friends is usually disturbing to a resting child, which is continually "lifted up for show-off" purposes is bad at any time for the baby.

Such little things help to develop irritability and fussiness which one day may form the basis for nervous troubles.

A baby is only too likely to reflect nervous environment.

Try and remember how you feel when you are suddenly awakened, or disturbed while resting and do unto your child as you do unto yourself!

WILL ATTEND LIONS' ANNUAL CONVENTION

About 25 members of the local Lions club will attend the annual district convention of Lions International in Worcester tomorrow. The convention will be held in the Hotel Warren and the Worcester club has arranged a program of entertainment that will keep visiting delegates and club members busy from the time of their arrival up to midnight tomorrow.

The delegates from the local club are as follows: Gardner Dumas, secretary; Frank E. Kimball, treasurer; S. Harvey, Leif Smith, Edward Carter, James Johnston. The alternates are Joseph McGarry and John M. Gray.

The Lowell party will make the trip by automobile, and any members who desire transportation should get in touch with the secretary, Gardner Dumas, who has charge of all arrangements.

Patrons are to think that to turn about is fair play.

Among the reports submitted were those of Miss Helen M. Riley, recording secretary, and the following chairmen of committees: Education, Miss Mabel Cassidy; social service, Miss Marietta Dwyer; civics, Miss Eva Blanchard.

In her report, President Slaughter gave more than passing attention to the work of Mr. John T. Giblin, director of the league orchestra. Mrs. Ella Reilly Toye, director of the musical programs, and Mrs. James A. Murphy, director of the Choral club, for the excellent work accomplished and services rendered throughout the year.

Miss Kathleen Jennings was the soloist of the afternoon and accompanied by Mrs. Ella Reilly Toye, she gave a most enjoyable program.

Rev. Joseph A. Curtin, spiritual director of the organization, addressed the members at the close of the business session. In speaking of the progress of the league during the past year, Rev. Fr. Curtin referred to the fact that in the six years' existence of the league, interesting and co-operation were always the highlights of the association. "Since the organization of the league six years ago, the same energetic leaders who were then interested are still engaged in directing the affairs of the league," stated Fr. Curtin.

In closing, Fr. Curtin expressed his appreciation to the executive board and thanked the members for the cheque at its meeting on Thursday last.

OH! SNATCHED AWAY IN BEAUTY'S BLOOM

Oh! snatch'd away in beauty's bloom
On thee shall press no ponderous tomb;
But on thy turf shall roses rear
Their leaves, the earliest of the year;
And the wild cypress wave in tender gloom:

And oft by yon blue gushing stream
Shall Sorrow lean her drooping head,
And feed deep thought with many a dream,
And lingering pause and lightly tread:
Fond wretch! as if her step disturb'd the dead!

Awail! we know that tears are vain,
That death nor heeds nor hears distress,
Will this unteach us to complain?
Or make one mourner weep the less?
And thou—who tell'st me to forget,
Thy looks are wan, thine eyes are wet.

—Lord Byron.

The ESSENCE of SPRING

Hal Cockran's DAILY POEM

Dog-gone-it, it's spring and there isn't a thing that has never been written about it. The story is old and it always is told; when the spring comes around poets shout it.

The birds sing the same as they always have sung and the frogs croak the usual way. The real thoughts of spring have so often been sung that it's useless to fling 'em today.

Why, even the creek hasn't changed, so to speak, and the water still trickles galore. The kids, if you please, wade around in their knees—but you've all heard that story before.

The dandelion yellow, the violet blue; and the moss that grows under the brush, are all quite familiar to me and to you, like the song of the robin or thrush.

The feeling of spring is a wonderful thing, but it's foolish to bother my head at writing about it when you, I don't doubt it, can step out and feel it instead.

"SPRING FEVER"

Summer heat! With everybody uncomfortable, particularly the baby. Mr. Mann of Anytown fretting around, wondering what he could do to make himself cooler, and disturbed over the discomfort of the child! Summer days are painful days for baby; restless, crying days.

A few, easily done things will always help. Squeeze the child off at least three or four times a day. Wipe its face and head with a cool (not cold) cloth about once an hour. If the baby's skin is easily irritated try the baby bath, which is prepared by placing a cupful of bran in a muslin bag and pressing it out in bath water. Dust talcum powder carefully over the body after each bath.

As a protection against flies and mosquitoes, have screens on the windows, or throw a cloth netting in tent fashion, over the crib, arranging this so that it will be free from the child's body.

Cod Liver Oil Now in Tasteless Tablets

Greatest Flesh Builder

No more will weak, thin, unfortunate children cry in protest when the nasty, fishy-tasting, horrible-smelling cod liver oil is brought out.

Medical science progresses rapidly and now you can get at your druggist's real, genuine cod liver oil in sugar-coated tablets that young and old can take with ease and pleasure.

Even the run-down and skinny grown-ups, who ought to take cod liver oil, because it really is the greatest vitamin food and builder of healthy flesh in the world, will feel extremely joyful when they read this welcome news.

Of course, doctors have been prescribing cod liver oil in tablets under another name for several years, but it is only of late that one can walk into a drug store and get a box of these flesh-producing tablets just as easy as a bottle of magnesia.

Thin, run-down, anemic men, women and children who need to grow strong and take on flesh are advised to get a box of McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Tablets, and if you don't gain 5 pounds in 30 days just get your money back.

One woman gained fifteen pounds in five weeks, according to her own doctor—another ten pounds in three weeks. A very sickly child, aged nine, twelve pounds in seven months, and now plays with other children and has a good appetite.

Just ask for McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Tablets, Green's Drug Store, A. W. Dows & Co., Fred Howard, or any good druggist will tell you that they are wonderful flesh and health builders. Only sixty cents for 60 tablets.

Legion Memorial Day Message

more post spirit and a strong display of it by a large turnout of marchers on Memorial day.

The Memorial day message of Commander MacDonald follows:
Memorial Day
Not our day, but Their Day.
Not the day we celebrate, but rather the day we observe.

Not the day for self-indulgence, but the day of dedication, the day of tribute, the day we publicly express the holy spirit of veneration for those comrades who have gone on before.

Turn out, then, comrades, for the Memorial day observance. Attend the church services on the Sunday morning before Memorial day, honor the U.S.A. by attending their services at the First Commemorative church on Sunday afternoon also. But above all, turn out and parade on Memorial day.

Speedily passing into our hands is the task of maintaining in this country the proper respect due to men who served in our country's wars. How can we expect to do this if we do not set the proper example?

Is there a veteran so lacking in the ideals we cherish that he will take the day for himself rather than dedicate it to our dead? I hope not. So again, comrades, do your duty. By the dead. Do your duty by your country. Turn out for every ceremony planned for the observance of Memorial day.

COLIN C. MACDONALD, Commander.

LOWELL HIGH FINISHES SECOND IN WORCESTER MEET

Brilliant Performances Turned in By Seven Local Track and Field Stars Bring 33 Points—Pearson and Slavin Record-Breakers

By finishing in the runner-up position at the interscholastic track and field meet held on Saturday at Worcester under the auspices of Worcester Polytechnic Institute, Lowell high school turned in the best team performance of the outdoor track season. Springfield Technical high school, with a big squad entered, won the meet with 33 points and Lowell, with seven men figuring in the scoring, ran up 33 points to take second place. If Jim Daley had elected to compete instead of leading his baseball team against Concord high, it is safe to say that Lowell would have walked off with first honors, for Daley barely could miss placing in the "hundred" and would have won the running broad jump.

Lowell showed four first place winners. Capt. Pearson won the half mile run in two minutes, 2-5 seconds and smashed the runner placing a full five seconds. Joe Slavin walked off with the 440-yards in 53 seconds, also a new record. Jim Pearson won the running broad jump and thereby gets his "1" and Fred Vinet,

Control, Change of Pace, Ability to Think for Yourself—That's Johnson's Pitching Formula

BY WALTER JOHNSON, Famous Pitcher, Washington Americans

Work for control. Develop a change of pace. Study your batters carefully. Take advantage of their weakness. Conserve your pitching strength at all times.

This enables you to have something in reserve for the pinch. Don't grow careless on supposedly weak batters. Hate every player a dangerous hitter.

Work with your catcher. A brainy backstop is a decided asset. Good catching is an essential of great pitching.

However, don't become a mere machine. If you don't like what the catcher has signaled for, shake him off and talk it over.

Have confidence in your ability. No pitcher can succeed without such an asset. Make up your mind that every batter means your stuff.

Work hard.

Good Catcher Great Help

That is my lifelong motto to pitchers who aspire to reach the big leagues.

Around these theories, briefly expressed, my career has been shaped. If I had learned some of the lessons sooner, my work would have been that much easier. I have particular reference to developing a change of pace.

Control is perhaps a pitcher's greatest asset.

I have certain set convictions about control. My idea of control is not purely aiming the ball over the plate but rather pitching to the batter's weakness.

Control is an acquired art. Some pitchers are blessed by home more accurate than others, but every pitcher can perfect himself by constant effort.

Fast Ball Easiest on Arm

A strong pitching arm is a gift of nature. Every pitcher fortunate enough in having a million-dollar arm, as they say in baseball, should nurse it along.

I find that a fast ball delivered with a natural motion is easiest on the arm. That may sound strange, but the throwing of the curve or slow ball takes much more out of the arm.

Like control, a change of pace can be acquired. Throwing the slow one is more difficult for some pitchers than others. This is due to the fact that they are forced to change their style.

A slow ball is not really effective unless delivered with the same motion as the fast one.

All Batters Are Dangerous

Don't call batters as dangerous. I never call one on the supposedly soft ones. I have found that in a pinch some of the so-called weak hitters are far more dangerous than many batters with a faster average.

I find left-handed batters more troublesome on the whole than those who hit from the right side of the plate. The majority of the left handers play more baseball, work the pitcher harder.

BOUT IS CALLED OFF

Nate Seigel-Al Sears Match Scratched—No Moody Club Show This Week

Paluso and Murphy Next Week—Boyle Issues Challenge to Meet Gradwell

The Nate Seigel-Al Sears bout, scheduled for next Thursday night by the Moody club, has been called off according to announcement made by Matchmaker Ponder. As a result, no boxing will be held this week.

Negotiations are under way to bring Lew Paluso and Billy Murphy together a week hence. This match has been sought by many promoters for some time and it was looked upon as a real big city event.

Paluso created a sensation in New England last season, and at that time an attempt was made to match him with Murphy but Leo (Publicity) Flynn, Lew's manager, turned down several propositions. After repeated efforts on the part of Matchmaker Ponder, Flynn finally yielded but he demanded a big guarantee before agreeing to sign up.

Murphy, who is regarded as a championship possibility, realizes the importance of a match with Paluso, and has already started training for the bout.

Boyle Issues Challenge

Phineas Boyle is far from discouraged over the loss of the decision to Willie Gradwell in the "rubber" battle the other night. On the contrary, he is more convinced than ever by his carding to a statement made by his manager today, that he is Gradwell's man.

He will continue training in the hopes that he will be able to get another crack at the Somerville boy. So confident is he that he can defeat Gradwell that he stands ready to meet him in any ring in New England, and Boyle's manager made the following statement today:

"Boyle, while disappointed of course over the final handed to him by the Boston gang the other night, is not discouraged, and has asked me to issue a challenge to meet Gradwell in any city in New England. He feels that the majority of the Lowell fans will agree that he has shown his superiority in the three bouts. He got a tough break in the first bout, was given what he richly deserved and earned in the second, and was robbed in the final.

"He believes, as I do, that it was unfair on the part of the commission to assign three Boston men to handle the bout the other night. Boyle should not expect that all the officials should be Lowell men, but he feels from Boston, one from Lowell and the other from Lawrence, Haverhill or elsewhere.

"I have never heard of any of the Lowell judges working in Boston bouts, yet week after week Boston men are sent to this city, while Lowell officials are left. The local promoters, I know as the result of a personal investigation, is not responsible for the assignment of the officials and it is unfair to him as well as to the Lowell boxers and fans to be forced to contend with such a situation.

"However, to continue the slanders and to satisfy fans throughout New England that he is the logical candidate for a crack at the New England welterweight title, Boyle stands ready to take on Gradwell or any one else who dares to challenge him. He will continue his training and will be prepared to hop in at short notice against any worthy opponent.

Hoover Trains for Olympic Tryouts

PHILADELPHIA, May 19.—Ad Stone, Philadelphian, probably will not contest for the Philadelphia challenge cup, emblematic of the world's singles swimming championship, but will devote all his time to preparation for the Olympic tryouts to be held here June 13 and 14. The challenge cup race will be held next Saturday over the mile and a half course in the Schuylkill river.

Hoover has been here for several weeks practicing for the event, but was forced to stop his workouts last week because he was not feeling well. He plans to stay in Philadelphia for the Olympic tryouts in a day or two.

Indications today were that W. E. Garrett, Gilmore, and Paul Costello, both of this city, would be the only contestants in the challenge cup race.

Stone vs. Loughran

PHILADELPHIA, May 19.—Ad Stone, Philadelphian, and Tommy Loughran, Philadelphian contender for the light heavyweight crown worn by Mike McTigue, will meet tonight at the Schuylkill race track. Both were reported in excellent condition and confident of victory.

Stone is now down his opponents, his victory last week being his fifth consecutive win. He has been training for the past few days at Chick Hayes' gymnasium in Boston and he intends to continue working out under the direction of the crafty Boston instructor.

SILESIA'S BREAK EVEN OVER WEEK-END

St. Andrew's led all the way with Silesia at Silesia Park yesterday afternoon. The Greater Boston Twilight League game, an old-time favorite on the mound, put up a snappy brand of ball. After the second stanza, when Paddy Noonan, the home twirler, took an ascension, the game's result was never in doubt.

Silesia scored twice in that and added a tally again in the sixth and seventh. Paulkner of St. Andrew's lifted a homer in the second that seemed to mark the contest for the visitors and they held the lead all the way. Silesia kicked the whitewash brush out of Mullema's hand when Greenblat helped Gallagher around the sacks.

Silesia Wins Saturday

Sidesmen twirled a sweet game for Silesia Saturday and Mullen lost by 4 to 2 in a real game at the North Chastell diamond. Sidesmen stippled out in the fourth frame and Silesia resulted. Except for that break, Silesia tossed an air tight game. Silesia garnered three tallies in the second stanza and another in the lucky seventh. The fans saw a swell game. The score:

LOWELL HIGH TEAM DEFEATS CONCORD

Lowell high scored up the score with Concord, 5 to 1, last for the first time in the history of the rivalry. By defeating the superior boys in their home town Saturday by a score of 5 to 1, Harry Cohen pitched for the red and white. Lowells' pitcher, Harry Cohen, showed a fine command of his craft. He pitched a ball game of wildness, had the Concord boys baffled.

Lowell jumped on George Dane, who opened in the box for Concord and scored four runs in the first inning. Concord scored only one in its half and never threatened during the rest of the game. Dane was off his stride in the second frame and his pitch was taken by Harry Cohen. In seven innings, Lowell made seven hits and seven runs, and in the eighth frame, Cohen pitched a ball game of wildness, had the Concord boys baffled.

AMERICANS WIN FIRST 1924 OLYMPIC EVENT

PARIS, May 19. (By the Associated Press.) The Stars and Stripes today floated over the Colombes stadium in triumph, the victory of the American rugby team in the first of the 1924 Olympic events to be staged there. The team from the United States vanquished the favored French combination by a score of 17 to 3 in a game marked by intense play and marred only by the attitude of the partisan crowd, which hissed the visiting players and watched the raising of the American flag in cold silence, broken only by boos and catcalls.

The Americans refused to be puffed by the attitude of the crowd and won many admirers by their coolness and the bulldog spirit which, together with their superior physical condition, carried them through under adverse circumstances. Americans among the audience of 20,000, however, could not escape embarrassment, and there were scenes of personal encounters in the stands in which the citizens of the United States were knocked out and carried unconscious from the scene.

The newspaper experts are all overruling the crowd and are predicting that the display of poor sportsmanship and ill-feeling among the ignorant section of the spectators, which they term "entirely justified and unexcusable," will be a blot on the record of the 1924 Olympic points out that the crowd reproved an American player for doing something which, when done by a Frenchman, was minutes later, greeted with cheers. The foreigners present, it says, were given "the spectacle of a community which does not know how to lose."

WRESTLING BOUTS AT Y. M. C. A. GYM

Leo Sarasin and Jack Angelo are preparing carefully to defend Bob Johnson at the next "Y" show, May 20. Sarasin held Johnson even at the last show for thirty minutes and got a draw.

Bob has been wrestling in Worcester, Boston, Providence and elsewhere recently and has given a good account of himself so far, but many think that trying to beat two big jobs in a little time is a little too big a job for him just now.

At the last and final show of the season at the "Y" and the best available talent will compete. Tiger Pearson will referee and C. E. Towne will keep time. Kid Fournier will wrestle with Stanley Zeak—no fall to a finish.

Wilfred Duke is an old-timer and favorite at the Y. M. C. A. C. He will meet Kid Donnelly in the opening bout.

Earlier, Gould will meet Kid Roberts in a hard fought match in the same attraction. Both men are anxious to meet Randolph Regan, of Billerica and Regan promises to meet the winner. Dan Beardon is anxious to meet Billy Jones in another bout. Joe Savage and Randolph Regan are also scheduled for one full bout for the Polish championship of the city.

JOHN'S EVENING BETTER

TRAY, N. Y., May 19. Johnny Evans, manager of the Chicago American league baseball team, today was reported as recovering rapidly from an operation for appendicitis yesterday. He left his team in Boston and came to his home Saturday for the operation.

EASTERN LEAGUE MEETING

SPRINGFIELD, May 19. Eastern league owners met today for the purpose of determining the date of cutting down the player shift, which is ordinarily expected to be tomorrow. The date the number of players carried by each team must be reduced to 15. The cold rainy weather thus far in this season has hampered the owners in setting a line on the desirability of their players, hence the postponement of the date for cutting.

GIANTS TIED WITH REDS FOR LEAD—MEET PITTSBURGH TODAY

PHILLIES IN TERRIFIC SLUGGING BEE BEAT CUBS—CARDS STOP BRAVES—RED SOX RETAIN HOLD ON SECOND PLACE BY BEATING TIGERS—DIAMOND RING FOR VEACH

NEW YORK, May 19.—Shocked, chagrined and surprised along the western route, but tied for first place for all of that, the Giants after a day of rest, engaged old rivals today at Pittsburgh.

Cincinnati tied McGraw's team for the lead by defeating Brooklyn, in the opening game of the series, yesterday, 5 to 4. Burleigh Grimes' splitter was unrelenting, and when the Robins finally began meeting Sheehan's shots, the Reds had a lead made safe by Jackie May, who relieved Sheehan in the eighth.

The Phillies, suddenly become the maids of the league, made two homers, two triples, a double and a single in the second inning yesterday, and beat the Cubs with five pitchers, 4 to 5. Holke and Sand hit the homers.

Max Flack with a double in the ninth inning scored two runs and defeated the Red-conquering Braves, 5 to 4. Genevick weakened in the final frame.

C. M. A. C. and Y. M. C. A. Meet on South Common

Tonight

The Lowell Twilight league game this evening will bring together the C. M. A. C. and the Y. M. C. A. on the South common. It is expected that Sammy Pondiot, the "Iron man" will be on the rubber for the Pawtucket aggregation, while Gus MacKenzie will probably toss 'em up for the "Y" boys. ## CITY TWILIGHT LEAGUE

GAME TOMORROW

The next game in the City Twilight League will be played tomorrow evening between the Centralville East Ends and the Butler A. A. Neither team has shown on the common this season, but are reputed to have fast troops. The umpire on this occasion will be Eddie Rogers and Buty McManus.

As the City League has the grounds but two evenings next week, the second game will be played Thursday night between the Americans and Richards Belmonts. The umpire will be Charlie Allen and Foster Curtis.

Next week's schedule calls for three games. On Monday night, the Pawtucket A. A. and the East Ends will travel over the distance, on Wednesday night, the fans will see the Bellevue and the Butlers, and on Friday night, the Americans and Pawtucket A. A. will get into action.

English officials test road material by building a two-foot road and using a revolving machine on it.

Jack Daw's Adventures. Chapter 21

Jack had many good things to eat and finally a loud strain of music came floating through the air. That's the signal to get ready for the parade," explained the circus lady. And, with that, she jumped up and left the table. All the others started leaving, too.

"Want to watch the parade form?" asked the elephant trainer, who had come up to where Jack sat. "Sure," replied the little adventurer. And he followed the elephant trainer outside of the eating tent. Circus folks were forming into line and there was much excitement.

A funny looking clown came running up to Jack and asked if he could have Flip to parade in the march around town. "He won't get hurt because I'll take him right in my pony cart with me," said the clown. So Jack agreed and the clown started away with Flip at his heels. (Continued.)

Harrisburg, Pa.—Funerals
Held Today

HARRISBURG, Pa., May 18.—Upon two slender clues, a battered leaden bullet and a worn pocket notebook, state police and county officials today began hopes of solving the mystery surrounding the killing of Harry Ganssinger, Marysville high school student and Leah Ellenberger, Holladay high teacher, found shot to death at Lander's shop near here, early Saturday morning.

The bullet, taken from the body of the girl was that which killed both her and her companion as they were preparing to return home after picking wild flowers on Blue mountain. It was of old style made for an old type of rifle. The notebook, found in the boy's pocket contained a strange collection of boyish impressions. In it he had noted methodically many happenings and secrets of his life, addresses and a map of the mountain region in which he was killed. From these the police sought some inkling of his experience that might lead to the slayer.

Today funeral services were held separately for the youth and girl at Marysville.

OUR BOARDING HOUSE

Site to Be Downtown
Continued

This morning that all preliminary arrangements to assure the actual construction of a ten-story, modern hotel have been completed. Carefully drawn plans covering several sheets of paper, and outlined a wealth of attractive details in hotel exterior as well as interior, have been patiently studied by the promoters, discussed in lengthy planning sessions and now unanimously approved.

Even the name of the hotel has been selected by the designers with the approval of the financial supporters. It is a name familiar to all Lowell and the country over, referring as it does to an institution of the city whose title and character arouse laudation and patriotic sentiment.

The promoters of the ten-story hotelery soon to tower high in the very heart of Lowell, have considered just one location for the structure desired. Among the possible sites were real estate properties on John street, French street, East Merrimack street and the site of former Associate hall.

Since the disastrous fire that destroyed the latter business block in City Hall square, some supporters of the new hotel proposition suggested taking the Associate building site for the purpose desired. It is a location that can be secured promptly, if desired, it was said today.

The promoters have received many recommendations from well known Lowell business men, advising the selection of a site on East Merrimack street but no particular spot has been considered in any determinative way.

There is to be no city-wide subscription campaign to secure funds for the hotel proposition, as first suggested. The reason is this: Enough leading citizens are confident that if a certain excellent location that has the approval of a majority of the camp followers, is selected at this week's meeting of the promoters and architect, funds will be easy to obtain.

From a few civic betterment enthusiasts who would be glad to have an investment in a substantial hotel of modern size and conveniences, in the progress of community welfare and genuine hospitality.

Army. Globe Flyers Landed at Yatorofu Island, Kuriles,

Today

Landing Made on Lake
Toshimoye in Rear of

Hilokappu Bar

YATOROFU ISLAND, Kuriles, May 18. (By the Associated Press.)—The three American army flyers flying around the world landed here today having made the 500-mile hop from Paramushiro island in a little over seven hours.

The landing was made on Lake Toshimoye. This is in the rear of Hilokappu Bar, an indentation on the southeast shore of this island. A landing place on the lake was prepared by Japanese and American soldiers from the destroyers Pope and Amatsukaze several days ago, when it was determined that Hilokappu bay was too rough for the planes to be brought down safely on its waters.

Planes were placed in the lake and arrangements made for the flyers to reach the shore.

To (Call on Prince Regent

TOKIO, May 18.—(By the Associated Press.)—The flight of the American round the world flyers from Paramushiro Bay to Lake Toshimoye was made under ideal conditions, said dispatches received here from the American destroyer Pope and the Japanese destroyer Amatsukaze.

The flyers will be received in audience by the Prince Regent soon after their arrival at Kanumikaru, the Japanese naval base.

Complete 500 Mile Flight

MELBOURNE, May 18.—Aviators McIntyre and Golde today completed their 500 mile flight around Australia, accomplishing the feat in ninety flying hours.

The flight was undertaken to survey the coast for defense purposes, to seek possible aviation bases and to collect data concerning the effect of tropical conditions on airplanes.

Well Received by Japanese

BREMERTON, Wash., May 19. (By the Associated Press.)—Official messages from Lieut. Lowell H. Smith, in command of the army airplane squadron on a world encircling trip, tell of the cordial reception given the flyers by the Japanese at Paramushiro island, Kuriles, and commend the accuracy of the weather forecasts by which their movements since leaving Unalaska have been guided.

By radio message dated May 18 from the United States destroyer Ford at Paramushiro, Lieut. Smith reported "excellent advance arrangements seem to have been made in this division. Here we are met by the Ford and they are taking care of us in fine shape. Two Japanese destroyers have extended every conceivable courtesy and are also going to assist right through Japan. Heavy winds, snow, fog, etc., causing delays. Continuation may be possible Monday."

In another message from the same plane, also dated May 18, Lieut. Smith reported:

"A great deal of our success so far due to Major Blair's accuracy in forecasting weather. Not single possible flying day lost since leaving Unalaska."

Auto Smashed from Post

An automobile bearing the register number 225,408 ran into a metal post at the corner of Rogers and Perry streets yesterday afternoon, smashing the post and lifting the base from its setting. The driver made a quick turn toward the sidewalk to avoid hitting a passing car. Nobody was hurt, and the damage to the car was confined to the bumper and head lights.

FOURTH DEGREE EXEMPLIFICATION IS BRILLIANT EVENT

Ceremonies Featured by Street Parade and Banquet—
His Eminence Cardinal O'Connell Addresses Knights
—Senator Walsh Speaker at Banquet

Knighthood was truly in flower in Lowell yesterday, when the fourth degree of the order of the Knights of Columbus—the highest honor within the great organization—was magnificently exemplified in the Memorial Auditorium with more than 1000 sir knights from various cities and towns in Massachusetts in attendance. The seed that had been sown months ago, when permission was first given the members of Bishop Delany assembly of Lowell to go ahead with the degree, blossomed forth yesterday with a pomp and majesty exceeding any similar function of its kind in the local history of Catholicism. It was the most impressive spectacle in connection with the fourth degree in all its history in the state.

Starting at 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon when the degree ritual was privately exemplified in the Auditorium by Louis Watson, degree master of Cabot province, assisted by his staff and the local committee under Faithful Navigator John V. Donoghue of Bishop Delany assembly, engaging in an impressive street parade which was reviewed by His Eminence, William Cardinal O'Connell, assisting at pontifical benediction in St. Peter's church, and ending with a banquet in the Auditorium where splendid addresses were made by Senator David I. Walsh and other distinguished gentlemen, this day was replete with interesting and memorable events.

Long before the scheduled starting time of the parade, the city's streets were thronged with men, women and

Molding and Plate Shop of
Federal Shipyards, Kearney, N. J., is in Ruins

Tremendous Blast of Unknown Origin Heard More Than Five Miles Away

KEARNEY, N. J., May 19.—The molding and plate shop of the federal shipyards is a complete ruin today, as the result of a tremendous explosion of unknown origin, which rocked this section, last night, doing damage to property estimated at $1,600,000.

The blast, which was heard more than five miles away, was followed immediately by fire which destroyed the building and large quantities of expensive machinery and equipment, and for a time threatened to wipe out the entire plant. The fire was confined to the building where the explosion occurred.

The blast originated in a two-story building, more than a quarter of a mile long, and 300 feet wide, where the keel of one new vessel had just been laid and where other ships were being repaired.

Between 500 and 1000 men are temporarily thrown out of work.

ACTRESS SLASHED FROM MOUTH TO EAR

PROVIDENCE, R. I., May 19.—Mabel Hiler, of 2130 Cambridge street, Philadelphia, vaudeville actress, who was assaulted in the shadows under Clinton street railroad bridge, Woonsocket, while returning to her hotel with her sister from the Bijou theatre in that city, Saturday night, by a man who slashed her face from mouth to ear with a razor, last night told investigating authorities how the man has doggedly followed her from New York through Boston, Springfield, Mass., Watertown, Bristol and New London, Conn., during the past three months, threatening her with harm unless she married him. Saturday night the girl had denied knowledge of her assailant's identity. It is said to have a criminal record in New York and to be known to the police of Boston and New London. Police expect to capture him today.

UNMARRIED WOMAN
USES PREFIX "MRS."

NEW YORK, May 19.—Although she is unmarried and declares that she "probably never will be," Miss Estelle Scheyer, German art collector, attaches the prefix "Mrs." to her name when she travels. A recently adopted German law permits a woman to assume the name of her husband on her arrival yesterday on the steamship Deutschland. It is a great help to the unmarried woman in the business field to be known as "Mrs." and saves her considerable annoyance when she is traveling. She was registered as "Mrs." Scheyer on her transatlantic trip.

Soldier Bonus Bill Becomes Law as Senate Votes 59 to 26 to Overthrow Veto

WASHINGTON, May 19.—The senate today over-ruled President Coolidge's veto of the soldier bonus bill.

The measure now automatically becomes law, the house having taken similar action.

The vote was 59 to 26 to overthrow the veto.

This was two more than the necessary two-thirds majority.

Several republican organization leaders joined with a strong democratic lineup in upsetting the veto on a vote which was in doubt until the last minute.

President Coolidge himself, made an eleventh hour effort to stem the tide of support for the bill. He summoned seven republicans favoring it to the White House but was unable to swing over enough votes to accomplish its defeat.

The action of the senate in voting to over-ride the veto followed similar action by the house last week and hence the bill automatically becomes law.

It provides for paid-up 20-year endowment insurance policies and cash payments to those not entitled to more than $50 in adjusted service credit.

BODY OF LOWELL MAN
TAKEN FROM CANAL

The body of John A. Anderson of 53 Loring street, who disappeared from his home on April 26, was recovered in the Northern canal, near the Lawrence Manufacturing company, about 3:15 o'clock this afternoon. Officials of the Lawrence company notified the police and Deputy Downey, in turn, notified Undertaker William H. Saunders, who removed the body to his undertaking parlor.

For several years Anderson had been employed in the hostelry plant. He went to work as usual on the 26th of last month and went about his duties until the shop closed for the day. When he did not return home, as customary, his relatives became alarmed and a county-wide search was instituted. No trace of him was found until this afternoon.

U. S. AMBASSADOR TO
JAPAN TO RETIRE

WASHINGTON, May 19.—The desire of Ambassador Woods at Tokio to relinquish his post is believed by officials here to be based wholly upon personal considerations and to have no connection with pending immigration legislation in this country.

Recent despatches from Tokio, have indicated that the health of the ambassador's mother-in-law, Mrs. J. A. Marchand, who was injured during the Tokio earthquake, has not improved, and that her condition has become increasingly precarious. Mr. Woods desires to bring her back to the United States at the earliest possible moment.

VILLAGE SMITHY IS DOOMED TO DISAPPEAR

LONDON, May 19.—The village smithy which is reputed to have inspired Longfellow's familiar verses is doomed to disappear. It stands in "St. Mary Cray," a Kentish village, and became known to the American poet when he visited the poetess Eliza Cook.

The appearance of the smithy at present hardly meets the description in the poem. The "spreading chestnut tree" vanished long ago, being felled because it darkened the neighboring house and the building now is for an equally utilitarian reason; its site is wanted in furtherance of a street widening plan.

RUSSIANS PREPARING DEFENSIVE MEASURES

MOSCOW, May 19.—(By the Associated Press).—On the initiative of War Minister Troitzky who is constantly warning the Russians to prepare defensive measures, a special campaign is being inaugurated throughout the country this week, urging the people the necessity of spreading the knowledge of chemical warfare.

A voluntary society will be organized for the development of the chemical industry as a means of defense. Special instructions will be given the border populations to enable them to perfect themselves against invading armies using psychiating and mustard gases, and an attempt will be made to find neutralizing agents to combat these gases.

FOREIGN POLICY
ESSENTIAL THING

Edouard Herriot, Regarded as Next Premier of France,
Discusses Plans

Believes Germany Can Be Brought Within Scope of Understanding

PARIS, May 19.—Edouard Herriot, to whom all indications point as next premier, is becoming more expansive in his declarations, without, however, leaving the realm of generalities. "Foreign policy is the essential thing," he is quoted as saying to the foreign editor of Le Matin. "There can be no question of reducing our military financial burden until France has been put at her ease in relation to Europe."

There was no reason, he said, why the recovery of the French debts could not be associated with the restoration of Europe and peace of the world, adding: "We must make an effort to understand others. The world has changed. It no longer suffices us to exercise our traditional diplomatic art and to protect ourselves, so to speak, abroad. We must realize the new forces and take them into account. Thereafter we will be entitled to offer our solutions, which no doubt, will be clear."

Commenting on the characteristics of the various nations he remarked that America is "a people prodigious in its industry and one of the political poles of the universe, but it is no less great by reason of its idealism and its generosity, if one knows how to touch its heart."

He even thought that Germany could be brought within the scope of a policy of international understanding. The democratic elements there, at present were stifled by a sinister wave of nationalism and should be supported because they constituted one of the best guarantees for peace. In conclusion he said: "For this great work of international understanding we need as diplomats, men who understand their epoch and are desirous of making peace a reality."

A black and white photograph showing a group of approximately ten people, including several children and a few adults, standing in front of a large, dark, industrial structure. The structure appears to be a mine entrance or a large building with a sign that reads "BANKING". The people are dressed in early 20th-century clothing. The scene is set outdoors, with a wooden building visible in the background.

Two serious fires, one in the James Palm & Son grain shed in Tanner street, and the other in the thickly populated residential section of West Centralville, threatened conflagrations late Saturday evening and early Sunday morning, and resulted in double alarms in both instances.

In the Palm fire, three horses were burned to death, and in the Centralville blaze the lives of over 100 persons, occupants of large tenement blocks, were threatened and a serious conflagration was avoided only by the lack of wind and the efficient action of members of the local department.

The Centerville fire started in a storax warehouse in the rear of 723 Lakeview avenue shortly before 1 o'clock Sunday morning, spread to two large tenement blocks housing 30 families, and threatened to wipe out the whole block bounded by Lakeview avenue, West Sixth, Alken and Kane streets.

An alarm from box 632 was sounded at 12:45 o'clock. The fire had evidently been smoldering in the interior of the warehouse for a considerable length of time and was only discovered when flames burst through the walls and roof. Upon the arrival of fire apparatus the whole building was a seething mass of flames and had communicated to two blocks in the rear, one housing 20 families and the other 12 families.

Fire in this district had been feared by the firemen for years and when the chief arrived no time was lost in sending for a second alarm. Firemen arriving during the first and policemen who had been attracted by the blaze entered the threatened tenements and ordered all occupants to vacate as quickly as possible. Many children were asleep at the time in the blocks and had to be carried to the street by their parents or the firemen, but all were removed to safety without any accident or sign of hysteria.

The burning storax house was too far gone when the fire department arrived to be saved and Chief Saunders ordered all available hose lines to be turned on the burning tenements. Disregarding the fact that the heat emanating from the burning storax house, which was less than 100 feet from the nearest burning tenement block, laddermen placed their long extension ladders and axemen and hosemen made their way to the top of the block and successfully battled the flames from this point of vantage. The rear of the block was badly scorched and the roof burned through in several places. The smaller block proved less difficult to save from the flames and was only threatened on the side nearest to the burning storax house.

When the tenement property was saved and danger of a conflagration averted, the firemen turned their efforts to the storaxhouse building and flooded out the flames after a short while. The recall was sounded at 1:22 a. m.

The storaxhouse was the property of Elzeaz Ledue, who conducts a furniture store in Lakeview avenue in one of the tenements and store blocks and the three horses were burned to death before firemen arrived on the scene. The large truck was also totally destroyed by the flames.

An alarm from box 43 was sounded at 10:15 o'clock and within a few minutes flames had burst through the roof of the burn section and lighted the sky for miles around. A second alarm was sent in upon the arrival of the chief. A considerable amount of baled hay was in the barn and furnished fuel for the flames.

The fire spread rapidly to the main grade and the south side of the plant but was brought under control before gaining a foothold there. The burn section was a total loss and the main plant was badly damaged by water. The building is owned by the Scannell Roller works and the damage is estimated at $10,000.

Hay in the main plant broke into flames again yesterday afternoon at 5 o'clock and hose 2 was dispatched to the scene and quickly extinguished the fire.

The origin of both fires is unknown, all evidence about the source of the flames having been totally destroyed.

At Wembley, England, old-fashioned craftsmen, to whom modern building methods are still a mystery, are creating a home which will withstand the ravages of 600 years.

Parade Big Event of Loyalty Day Here

BARTLETT SCHOOL FEATURE IN PARADE WHICH WON FIRST PRIZE

Lowell never will forget the observance of Loyalty day on Saturday featured by the parade of 10,000 school-children, filled every available stand-by, the track meet in the forenoon and the one day term of office of the city government. The city government, the boys and thousands of adults and the Bartlett school feature was a May-pole with one of the most significant and unique observances in the history of the city and undoubtedly was but the first of many more similar boys' week events in the years to come.

The parade was highly colored with floats and carried by bands and drum corps, but the appearance of the boys themselves was the outstanding feature. Middlesex, Central and Merrimack streets were lined solidly with ide for the fine results attained. It was not imagined that any such turnout of boys in parade formation could be secured and those who witnessed it were not prepared to see such a splendid manifestation of interest. In every instance schools had made extensive preparations for the parade and each school group was distinctive and set off by special uniforms types of clothing, featuring colored hats and white blouses and carefully adhering to a selected color scheme.

It was a never-to-be-forgotten day in the lives of these boys and also a day not soon forgotten by the grown-ups, who took almost as much interest in it as the boys themselves.

WILL MEET DARTMOUTH COLLEGE DEBATERS

The Greenhalge Debating society of the local high school will face the most difficult task of the season Friday evening when the Dartmouth college freshmen debaters come to the city to debate the society team on the subject, "Resolved: That the United States should enter the world court with the Hughes provisions." Lowell will uphold the affirmative.

The Salem high debating team, acknowledged as one of the best in the country, defeated the Dartmouth freshmen recently. Officers of the local team immediately requested a debate with the Green freshmen, although cognizant of the fact that the local society has never before entered in a debate with a college team. Arrangements were quickly made and Friday evening at the local school decided upon as the date and place.

In this, the crowning event of the season, the Greenhalge society will be represented by Alfred Aetna, president of the class of '24, Merrill Collins, coeditor of the yearbook and one of the school's crack debaters, and Richard Welch, one of the stars in "The Boomerangs," the school play.

DISCUSS PLANS FOR FLAG DAY OBSERVANCE

Flag day, June 14, will be observed in Lowell with elaborate ceremonies, arrangements now being consummated to have the cent. celebrated by the citizens at large in a more auspicious way than usual, if possible. A meeting of representatives of 15 different Lowell organizations, held late last week, discussed plans for the formal celebration, chamber of commerce being the meeting place.

Edwin J. Sullivan, local Boy Scout executive, has been made chairman of the general committee, and Gilbert W. Hunt of the Spanish War Veterans, secretary. Mr. Hunt said that the organization of which he is a member, will present a stand of colors to the Boy Scout troops securing the highest number of points in the annual competitive games to be conducted on South common on the afternoon of Flag day.

Open exercises will be held in the evening in Memorial Auditorium. A citizens' street parade before the exercises is in prospect. Every organization in the city is invited to participate. The next meeting of the general committee will be held Friday evening at 7:45 o'clock at the chamber of commerce.

Now! OLD HOME POTATO BREAD

MORE SLICES

OLD HOME POTATO Bread is made in a long loaf that gives you many more slices. It goes a long way, and its slices are just the right size for sandwiches, toast, or any other use. They fit your toaster without trimming.

*"There's a difference
in Bread"*

HOME-MADE BREAD! The very thought of it gives that lagging appetite a new lease on life—stirs up the old-time desire for food and plenty of it! Wasn't it great, the way you used to eat in those good old days? And the thing that tasted best of all was mother's home-made bread. What wouldn't you give now for just one slice of bread with that never-to-be-forgotten taste?

OLD HOME POTATO Bread actually has the same taste as the bread your mother used to make. And not only the taste, but the appearance, and even the same appetizing odor that used to greet your nose on baking day. It's a loaf packed full of genuine, old-fashioned goodness and nourishment. It puts an edge on your appetite that makes the whole meal taste better—makes you want to eat as you probably haven't eaten since you were a youngster.

And OLD HOME goes a long way to satisfy that new-found appetite, too. There's solid substance in every bite—food for nerve and muscle building. It'll help keep you fit for your daily work.

You'll find OLD HOME POTATO Bread at your grocer's tomorrow. Be sure to order a loaf. Serve it to your family and see if they don't agree that it has that "sure enough" real home-made taste.

Betsy Ross Bread

BETSY ROSS Bread needs no introduction to the housewives of this community. It has been known and liked here for years. It is a big, fine-eating loaf, filled with the rich goodness of its carefully selected ingredients—ingredients such as you would choose for home baking. But we go a step farther than the woman who bakes bread at home, for we put a full measure of pure, sweet milk into BETSY ROSS Bread. No wonder it's so full of health and flavor!

MOREHOUSE BAKING CO.

"SPRING FEVER"

Summer heat! With everybody uncomfortable, particularly the baby. Mr. Muen of Anytown fretting around, wondering what he could do to make himself cooler, and disturbed over the discomfort of the child!

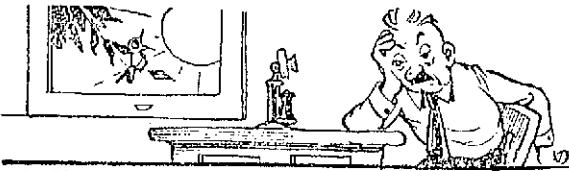

Summer days are painful days for baby, restless, crying days.

A few, easily done things will always help.

Sponge the child off at least three or four times a day. Wipe its face and head with a cool (not cold) cloth about once an hour. If the baby's skin is easily irritated try the bean bath, which is prepared by placing a cupful of bean in a muslin bag and pressing it out in bath water. Dust talcum powder carefully over the body after each bath.

As a protection against flies and mosquitoes, have screens on the windows, or throw a soft cloth netting in front of the baby, or arrange this so that it will be free from the child's body.

TO STUDY FRENCH

New Member of Chamber Speaks German

PARIS, May 12.—Unable to speak French fluently enough to take the part in the chamber, to which he was elected last week, M. Dreyer, commander-deputy from Alsace, today announced his intention of taking a thorough course in the language. He has spoken German since boyhood.

COMMODORE BALLROOM
That the Commodore Ballroom on Thorneike street is becoming popular is evidenced by the fact that large gatherings have been attending dances held at this hall since its opening last week and the patrons are well satisfied with the efforts of the management. There will be dancing on five nights this week, tonight, Tuesday, Thursday, Friday and Saturday. On Tuesday and Thursday evenings there will be a battle of music with Miner-Duys's orchestra and Tom Hardy's orchestra as opponents.

Cod Liver Oil Now in Tasteless Tablets
Greatest Flesh Builder

No more will weak, thin, unfortunate children cry in protest when the nasty, fishy-tasting, horrible-smelling cod liver oil is brought out.

Medical science progresses rapidly and now you can get at your druggist's real, genuine cod liver oil in sugar-coated tablets that young and old can take with ease and pleasure.

Even the run-down and skinny grown-ups, who ought to take cod liver oil, because it really is the greatest vitamin food and builder of healthy flesh in the world, will feel extremely joyful when they read this welcome news.

Of course, doctors have been prescribing cod liver oil in tablets under another name for several years, but it is only of late that one can walk into a drug store and get a box of these flesh-producing tablets just as easy as a bottle of magnesia.

Thin, run-down, anemic men, women and children who need to grow strong and take on flesh are advised to get a box of McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Tablets, and if you don't gain 5 pounds in 30 days just get your money back.

One woman gained fifteen pounds in five weeks, according to her own doctor—another ten pounds in three weeks. A very sickly child, aged nine, twelve pounds in seven months, and now plays with other children and has a good appetite.

Just ask for McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Tablets, Green's Drug Store, A. W. Dows & Co., Fred Howard, or any good druggist will tell you that they are wonderful flesh and health builders. Only sixty cents for 60 tablets.

Get McCoy's, the original and genuine Cod Liver Oil Tablets.—Adv.

Legion Memorial Day Message

more post spirit and a strong display of it by a large turnout of marchers on Memorial day.

The Memorial day message of Commander MacDonald follows:

Memorial Day

Not our day, but Their Day.

Not the day we celebrate, but the day we observe.

Not the day for self-indulgence, but the day of dedication, the day of tribute. The day we publicly express the holy spirit of veneration for those comrades who have gone on before.

Turn out, then comrades, for the Memorial day observance. Attend the church services on the Sunday morning before Memorial day, honor the U.S.A. by attending their services at the First Congregational church on Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock. Put above all, turn out and parade on Memorial day.

Speedily passing into our minds is the task of maintaining in the country the proper respect due to men who served in our country's wars. How can we expect to do this if we do not set the proper example?

Is there a veteran so lacking in the ideals we cherish that he will take the day for himself rather than dedicate it to our dead? I hope not.

So again, comrades, do your duty for the dead, for your duty by your country. Turn out for every ceremony planned for the observance of Memorial day.

COLIN C. MACDONALD,
Commander.

ARREST FIRE CHIEF FOR SPEEDING

ASSINING, N. Y., May 18.—Chief Hook, of the local fire department, was arrested today for speeding while driving a fire engine on the highway. He was arrested by a patrolman on the highway near the town of Assinippi.

The speed limit for automobiles in this town is 25 miles an hour, and the village president, Will Jackson, ruled that automobiles are automobiles, even if they are a part of the fire department. Hence the summons was handed to Chief Hook and he was arrested. The village is divided on the question of whether the apparatus may continue to hasten to fires or stay within the 25 miles an hour limit. In other words, it's a case of incineration versus incarceration.

BRIDE'S PARENTS TO GO ALONG ON HONEYMOON

BOSTON, May 18.—To prevent her wedding trip from being a lonesome, Mrs. William Doherty, a well-known young dancing teacher, has evolved something new in honeymooning.

She has formally invited her mother and father to accompany herself and husband-to-be, Robert W. McArthur, also of Boston, on their honeymoon through Canada in July, and the invitation has been accepted by the parents.

In defiance of traditional custom of honeymooners who believe the honeymoon is "just for two," Miss Doherty declares that hers would be a honeymoon unless her mother and father were included, and it was only a little while her father popped the question that he learned that he would have to forego the joy of a honeymoon unless he agreed to making it "a foursome" with his parents-in-law.

DRY AMENDMENT BENE-

FIT IN INDUSTRY

BOSTON, May 18.—The opinion that the prohibition amendment had been brought to industry was expressed by 33 per cent of a list of business men who replied to a questionnaire conducted by Courtenay Guild of Boston, editor of the Commercial Bulletin, who reported the result to the Guild in a Temperance society at its annual meeting here today. The other seven per cent would see no good in the amendment.

Mr. Guild gathered information from miscellaneous industrial concerns, coal producers, bankers, warehouse executives, publishers, packers, railroad executives, and mill owners. He received 116 replies from various parts of the country.

More severe punishment of violators of the liquor laws was generally recommended and many of the answers urged deportation of alien bootleggers. Four railroad executives testified to the helpfulness of the law, while a fifth said that his road had experienced more trouble with drinking and disturbance under prohibition than before the passage of the Volstead act.

Mr. William Tilton of Cambridge, of the women's national committee for law enforcement, in an address before the temperance society, said that women would not count in politics until they ceased to be "political receivers" and became "political donors."

"When they learn to turn emotion and sentiment into action," she said, "they will count greatly. Politically women are more logical than men. This was shown by the fact that at the recent convention in Washington the women's national committee for law enforcement refused to flirt with beer or compete with mere resolves for law enforcement."

TRIAL OF ALLEGED BANK

WRECKERS DELAYED

WORCESTER, May 18.—Additional defense tactics in behalf of Joseph B. Marston, who with Frank L. Taylor, former bank president, and Abraham Goldman, of Chicago, have been indicted on state charges in connection with the working of the First National bank of Worcester, on Feb. 5, 1923, today caused a postponement of the trial until November 18, 1924.

When appearing before Assistant District Attorney Charles R. Rugg, the trial of the cases will begin.

This afternoon, counsel for Marston will file pleas in court to prevent trial of their client, now here under custody of a marshal from the federal penitentiary at Atlanta, where he is serving a federal sentence in connection with this case. The nature of the pleas has not been made known.

In the state court here, Marston, if tried, will face charges of conspiracy and the larceny of $218,000 of the bank's securities and Goldman and Taylor will be tried on charges of conspiracy and aiding in the larceny of the funds.

The constitution was drawn up in 1791 by Poland's brave sons who endeavored to save the country from downfall. ## HOUSE TAKES UP HOWELL-BARKLEY BILL

WASHINGTON, May 18.—The house today resumed consideration of the Howell-Barkley bill to abolish the railroad labor board, a democratic-republican coalition coalition routing republican organization leaders who attempted to sidetrack the measure.

The church's attitude on war, will come up for discussion as soon as the first ballot has been completed. The majority report of the standing committee on the state of the church will recommend that the church refuse to support the production of any war, and a minority report will propose that defensive war be excluded from the ethical teachings of the church.

Supporting the committee of the Episcopate was the recommendation that the five existing vacancies on the board of bishops be filled by election. Dr. David G. Dill of New York, its chairman said that to lessen the number would be a "backward step."

"We are in the presence of a great world-wide program," he continued. "If you take this action, you will lay upon the Episcopate a burden it cannot bear in reducing the Episcopal area to a point where proper leadership cannot be given. The wise guidance of our church in these troubled times requires that the number of bishops established at the last general conference be maintained."

Jack Daw's Adventures. Chapter 21

Jack had many good things to eat and finally a loud strain of music came floating through the air. That's the signal to get ready for the parade," explained the circus lady. And, with that, she jumped up and left the table. All the others started leaving, too.

"Want to watch the parade form?" asked the elephant trainer, who had come up to where Jack sat. "Sure," replied the little adventurer. And he followed the elephant trainer outside of the eating tent. Circus folks were forming into line and there was much excitement.

A funny looking clown came running up to Jack and asked if he could have a place in the parade. "He won't get hurt because I'll take him right in my pony cart with me," said the clown. So Jack agreed and the clown started away with him at his heels. (Continued.)

COUPLE KILLED BY SAME BULLET

Police Seek to Solve Mystery
Surrounding Killing of Student and Teacher

Found Shot to Death Near
Harrisburg, Pa.—Funerals
Held Today

HARRISBURG, Pa., May 18.—Upon two slender clues, a battered leaden bullet and a worn pocket notebook, state police and county officials today planned hopes of solving the mystery surrounding the killing of Harry Ganster, Marysville high school student, and Leah Ellenberger, Hollidaysburg teacher, found shot to death at Lands' Gap near here, early Saturday morning.

The bullet taken from the body of the girl was the same which killed both her and her companion as they were preparing to return home after picking wild flowers on Blue Mountain. It was of old style made for an old type of rifle. The notebook found in the boy's pocket contained a strange collection of Jewish imprecations. In it he had noted medicinally many hat penances and secrets of his life, addresses and a map of the mountain region in which he was killed. From these the police sought some inkling of his experience that might lead to the slayer.

Today funeral services were held separately for the youth and girl at Marysville.

National Amateur Boxing
Champions Open at Boston Arena Tonight

BOSTON, May 18.—By a last minute decision of the officials, the finals in two classes will be fought out tonight in the national amateur boxing championships at the Arena, which this year also are the final Olympic tryouts. There are 16 entries in the heavyweight division. One of their number who is considered a formidable contestant, is Sergeant Lester Mayle of the army team, a full blooded Indian, whose home is in Northern Michigan.

Annual Pilgrimage

white, with vols and insignias, made a most impressive scene as they filed to the pews arranged before the altar.

The procession was led by three young ladies, who acted as flower girls, two carrying baskets of sweet peas, while the other carried a large basket filled with carnations. Following the flower girls were two young ladies bearing the banner of the Children of Mary. Next in line were the girls, each representing a head of the Rosary, every tenth girl carrying a banner, indicating the decade represented by her group. Banners of gold and white were carried by the first five groups representing the five joyful mysteries of the Rosary. The sorrowful mysteries followed the joyful and red and gold was the color scheme used. Lastly, came the glorious mysteries and these were indicated by gold and blue banners.

Taking up in the rear of the procession were four young ladies carrying a miniature shrine of the Blessed Virgin, purged decorated with pink, red and greenery. Thirty young girls, each carrying a pink and white rose, preceded the shrine bearers.

Upon arriving at the altar, the flower girls placed their tributes at the foot of the altar, while the shrine was placed on a table arranged for the purpose.

Rev. Augustin Gratton, O.M.I., director of the Children of Mary sodality, in addressing the large congregation, spoke in part as follows:

"Today we have gathered to honor the Blessed Virgin, our mother. The church has proclaimed the Blessed Virgin the Mother of Divine Grace. This Blessed Virgin gave us Jesus, and Jesus is the source of divine grace. The Blessed Virgin is our mother by grace and we are believers and lovers by grace. If Mary is the mother of divine grace, let us go to her with all confidence; let us implore her for the graces of conversion so necessary today. If she does not obtain them for us it is because we have not prayed faithfully enough; because we have not enough confidence. She wants to know upon us all the necessary graces for a pure and holy life. Mary, the mother of God, Mary the mother of grace and favor, Mary the mother of Christians; yes, we proclaim her as such; we honor her as our queen and mother. Let us show our confidence in Mary. Let us go to Mary, Mary mother of believers, convert the sinners; Mary mother of God, lead the sick; bless our families; bless our children; bless your children of Mary; bless the sinners; make us veritable Christians; teach us to pray; to love; to have confidence; bless our workers; our families; our priests and our religious. Mary, let us love you; show us the horror of sin, the love of sacrifice, devotion to you."

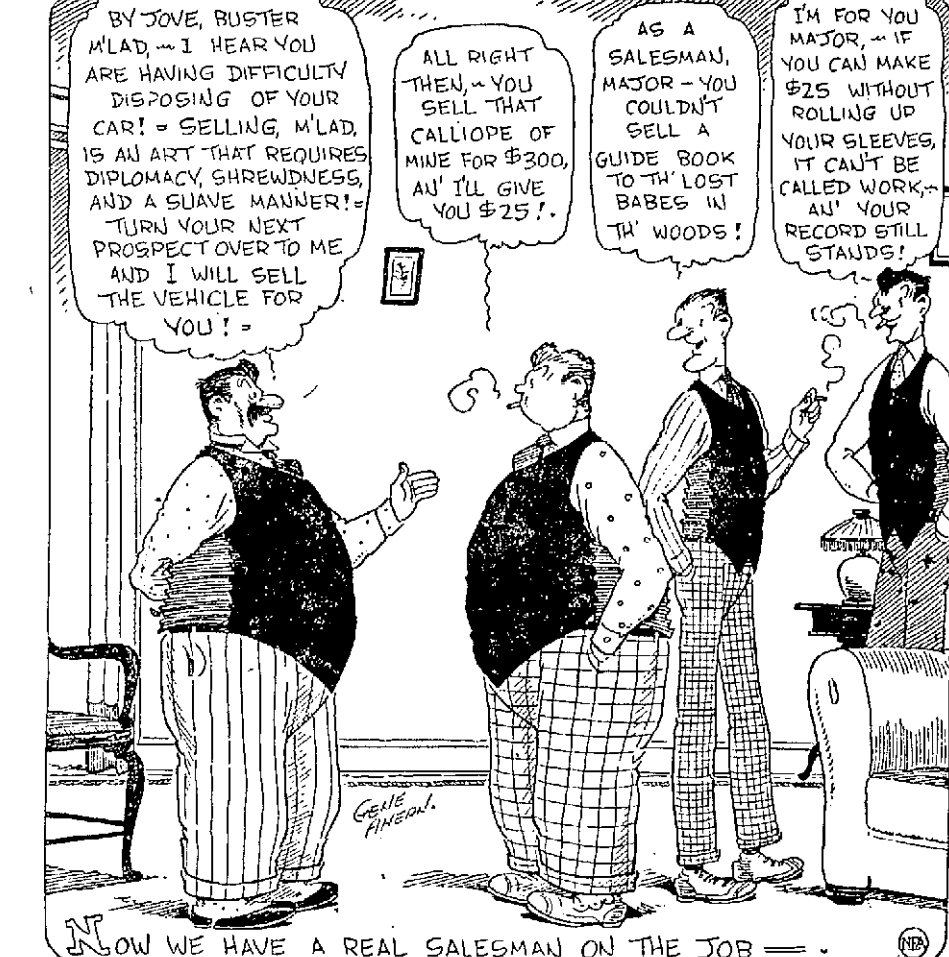

"Ask all you want of this good mother, on this earth, may she keep you with her eternally in heaven."

At the conclusion of the address, benediction of the Most Blessed Sacrament was held. Rev. Gratton officiating. During the ceremony, the Tantum Ergo, O Salutaris, Ave Maria and numerous appropriate hymns were sung by the members of the sodality.

OUR BOARDING HOUSE

Site to Be Downtown

This morning that all preliminary arrangements to assure the actual construction of a 10-story, modern hotel here, have been completed. Carefully drawn plans covering several sheets of blue prints and outlined a wealth of attractive details in hotel exterior as well as interior, have been patiently studied by the promoters, discussed in lengthy planning sessions and now unanimously approved.

Even the name of the hotel has been selected by the designers with the approval of the financial supporters. It is a name familiar to all Lowell and the country over, referring as it does to an institution of the city whose title and character arouse laudation and patriotic sentiment.

The promoters of the ten-story hotel, soon to tower high in the very heart of Lowell, have considered just about all locations for the structure desired. Among the possible sites were real estate properties on John street, French street, East Merrimack street and the site of former Associate hall.

Since the disastrous fire that destroyed the latter business block in City Hall square, some supporters of the new hotel proposition suggested taking the Associate building site for the purpose desired. It is a location that can be secured promptly, if desired, it was said today.

The promoters have received many recommendations from well known Lowell business men, advising the selection of a site on East Merrimack street but no particular spot has been considered in any determinative way.

There is to be no city-wide subscription campaign to secure funds for the hotel proposition, as first suggested. The reason is this: Enough leading citizens are confident that if a certain excellent location that has the approval of a majority of the capitalists, is selected at this week's meeting of the promoters and architect, funds will be easy to obtain from a few civic betterment enthusiasts who would be glad to have an investment in a substantial hotel of modern size and convenience, in the progress of community welfare and genuine hospitality.

BOYS' DAY OBSERVANCE 500-MILE HOP

Interesting Sermon on "Man-kind in the Making" By Rev. Isaac Smith

"Mankind in the Making," or, "The Man Every Boy Would Like to Be," was the topic of a remarkably clear-cut and invigorating sermon preached in Grace Universalist church, Princeton street, yesterday morning, during the religious society's formal observance of "Boys' Sunday." Rev. Isaac Smith, pastor of the church, delivered the address, with more than 70 boys of the church Sunday school and 150 men and women taking an active part in the Sabbath day ceremony.

The scouts marched to the Princeton street church edifice in a body, moved up the entrance steps and entered the Auditorium, stopping in front of the pulpit for brief patriotic exercises, which included salute to the Stars and Stripes. Every boy in the church school was present.

Pastor Smith's sermon topic was taken from Psalm, eighth chapter, third verse—"What is man?" Man in the past has been subject to the law of evolution, he said. Man's advance from a lower race was due to God-given powers that have produced our present civilization. The universal law rules all life on earth in its many planes.

Man is made up of three parts: Body, mind, spirit. To be a great man, it is necessary to develop all three parts. Just as a boy treats his mind and body, so he shapes the man which he is going to be. The kind of a man that a boy does not want to be may be summed up as follows: The physically unfit, the mentally dull, the spiritless man, the down-puller, the chronic-kicker, the parasite, the back number. He does not want to be that type of a man of whom people say, when he becomes old and dies, "He was no good to himself nor anyone else. Good riddance to bad rubbish."

No boy wants to be that kind of a man and no one need become that kind of a man. The type of a man every boy wants to be may be summed up in this way: "Physically healthy, clean and strong; mentally vigorous, high-minded and well-informed; spiritually alive, morally courageous."

So that when he goes down the street, his "other" self will say of him: "There goes a real, red-hot, blond man—a man who has developed a fine personality—one who has made the most of his opportunities—a man who lives, not for self alone, but for others. He is a credit to his father and mother, in his schools, his church, his city and to his country. And when he leaves this world a little better than when he found it."

This is the type of a man, Pastor Smith concluded, that every boy would like to be, and this is the kind of a man every boy can be if he will.

"When do we begin to be that ideal? Right now! You boys must think every day of your life that you are going to be that kind of a man, and you will be," the pastor said, in conclusion.
